ELLWOODIAN

Robin.
Well where do I start?
Good friend's this To really had a lot fun with. Remember my party when you hid the beer in the oven and I thought you drunks
it all. and is all you kept saying
"I want Joe" those famous words. Remember when we skipped and got those beautiful tans. laying on a rock. Of course you couldn't move over and left me off the end because you part was dirty. We saw that rock and thought was a Snake and almost had new heart attacks. Just remember being like the prom and out lunch.
your not going to be to wrecked you'll see your two
be a lot move good times
and in the future.
Love
Donna.

Robin,
Good-luck!
Well now what do
I say? Remember our Handicrafts class and how well we behaved. Hopefully someday will all finish our afghans. Take care - See you next year when we're all seniors

I don't know how to start but.
I guess I all ready did, AS you know your Cute, sweet loveable, we allways had a Good time in History.
May be are last year
we will be in the same class we allway was RMA
Good luck with Joe, and the summer
be Good Love Pooch

Robin
Good Luck goes to a really pretty nice and funny girl I met a while ago. Good Luck with Joe and with your future. Never forget our 4th pd English class.
Have fun, See you this summer!

To a really cute sweet girl I met a few years ago in 9th grade. Remember all the great times we had since then, like the time when we played layed out on Tommies porch playing cards, all the prom work meetings and our great 4TH, and 5TH Pd. Best of Luck to you Jo!
Love Rick A

P.S.
See YA This Summer.

Robin
To a really cute and sweet girl I've known since our days at Walnut Ridge. Seems like just yesterday. Never forget the times but I'll always remember our conversations in homeroom. Never in my life have I heard girls be so ignorant. Well I'll be Good Luck with Joe & Kristy

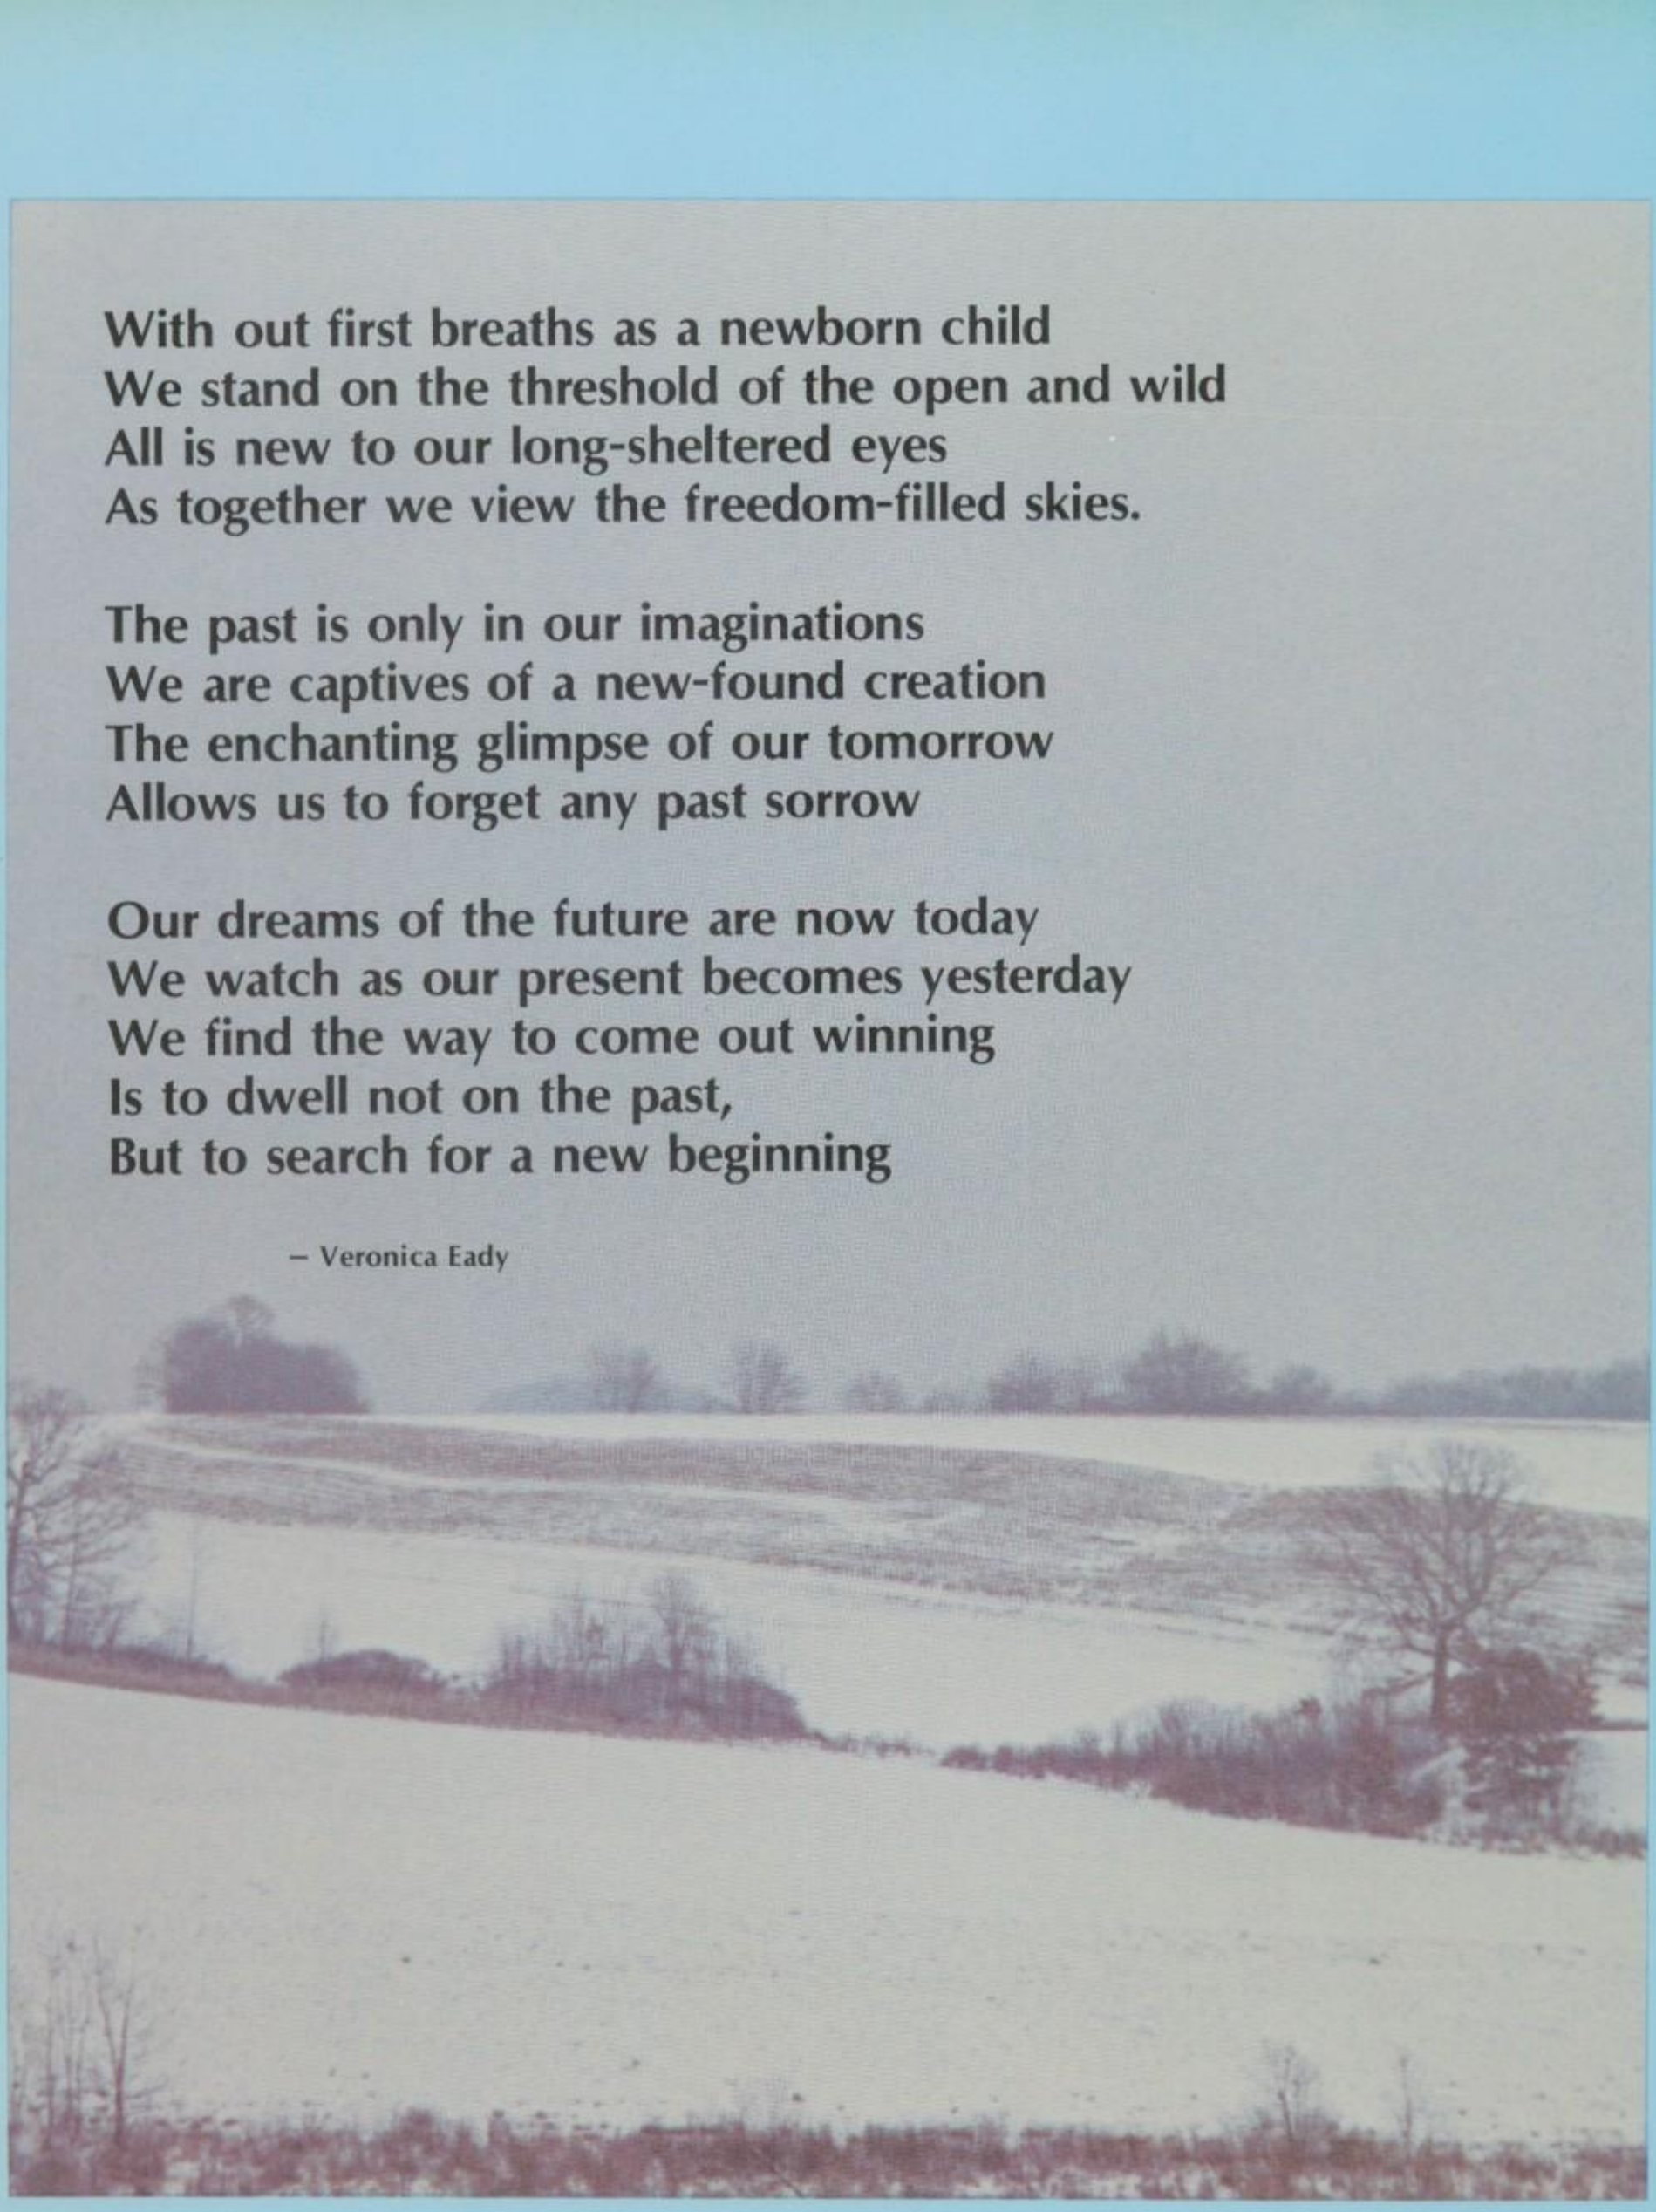
With out first breaths as a newborn child
We stand on the threshold of the open and wild
All is new to our long-sheltered eyes
As together we view the freedom-filled skies.

The past is only in our imaginations
We are captives of a new-found creation
The enchanting glimpse of our tomorrow
Allows us to forget any past sorrow

Our dreams of the future are now today
We watch as our present becomes yesterday
We find the way to come out winning
Is to dwell not on the past,
But to search for a new beginning

– Veronica Eady



The ocean flows with ebbing tides
And washes time away
It starts a new beginning
With every passing wave.

A decade's gone, and time has left
For each to start anew.
A time of searching and of finding
What is deep inside of you.

Our final year has come to pass
While all the world is living
The tide keeps rolling
And time keeps slipping,
As we leave with a new beginning.

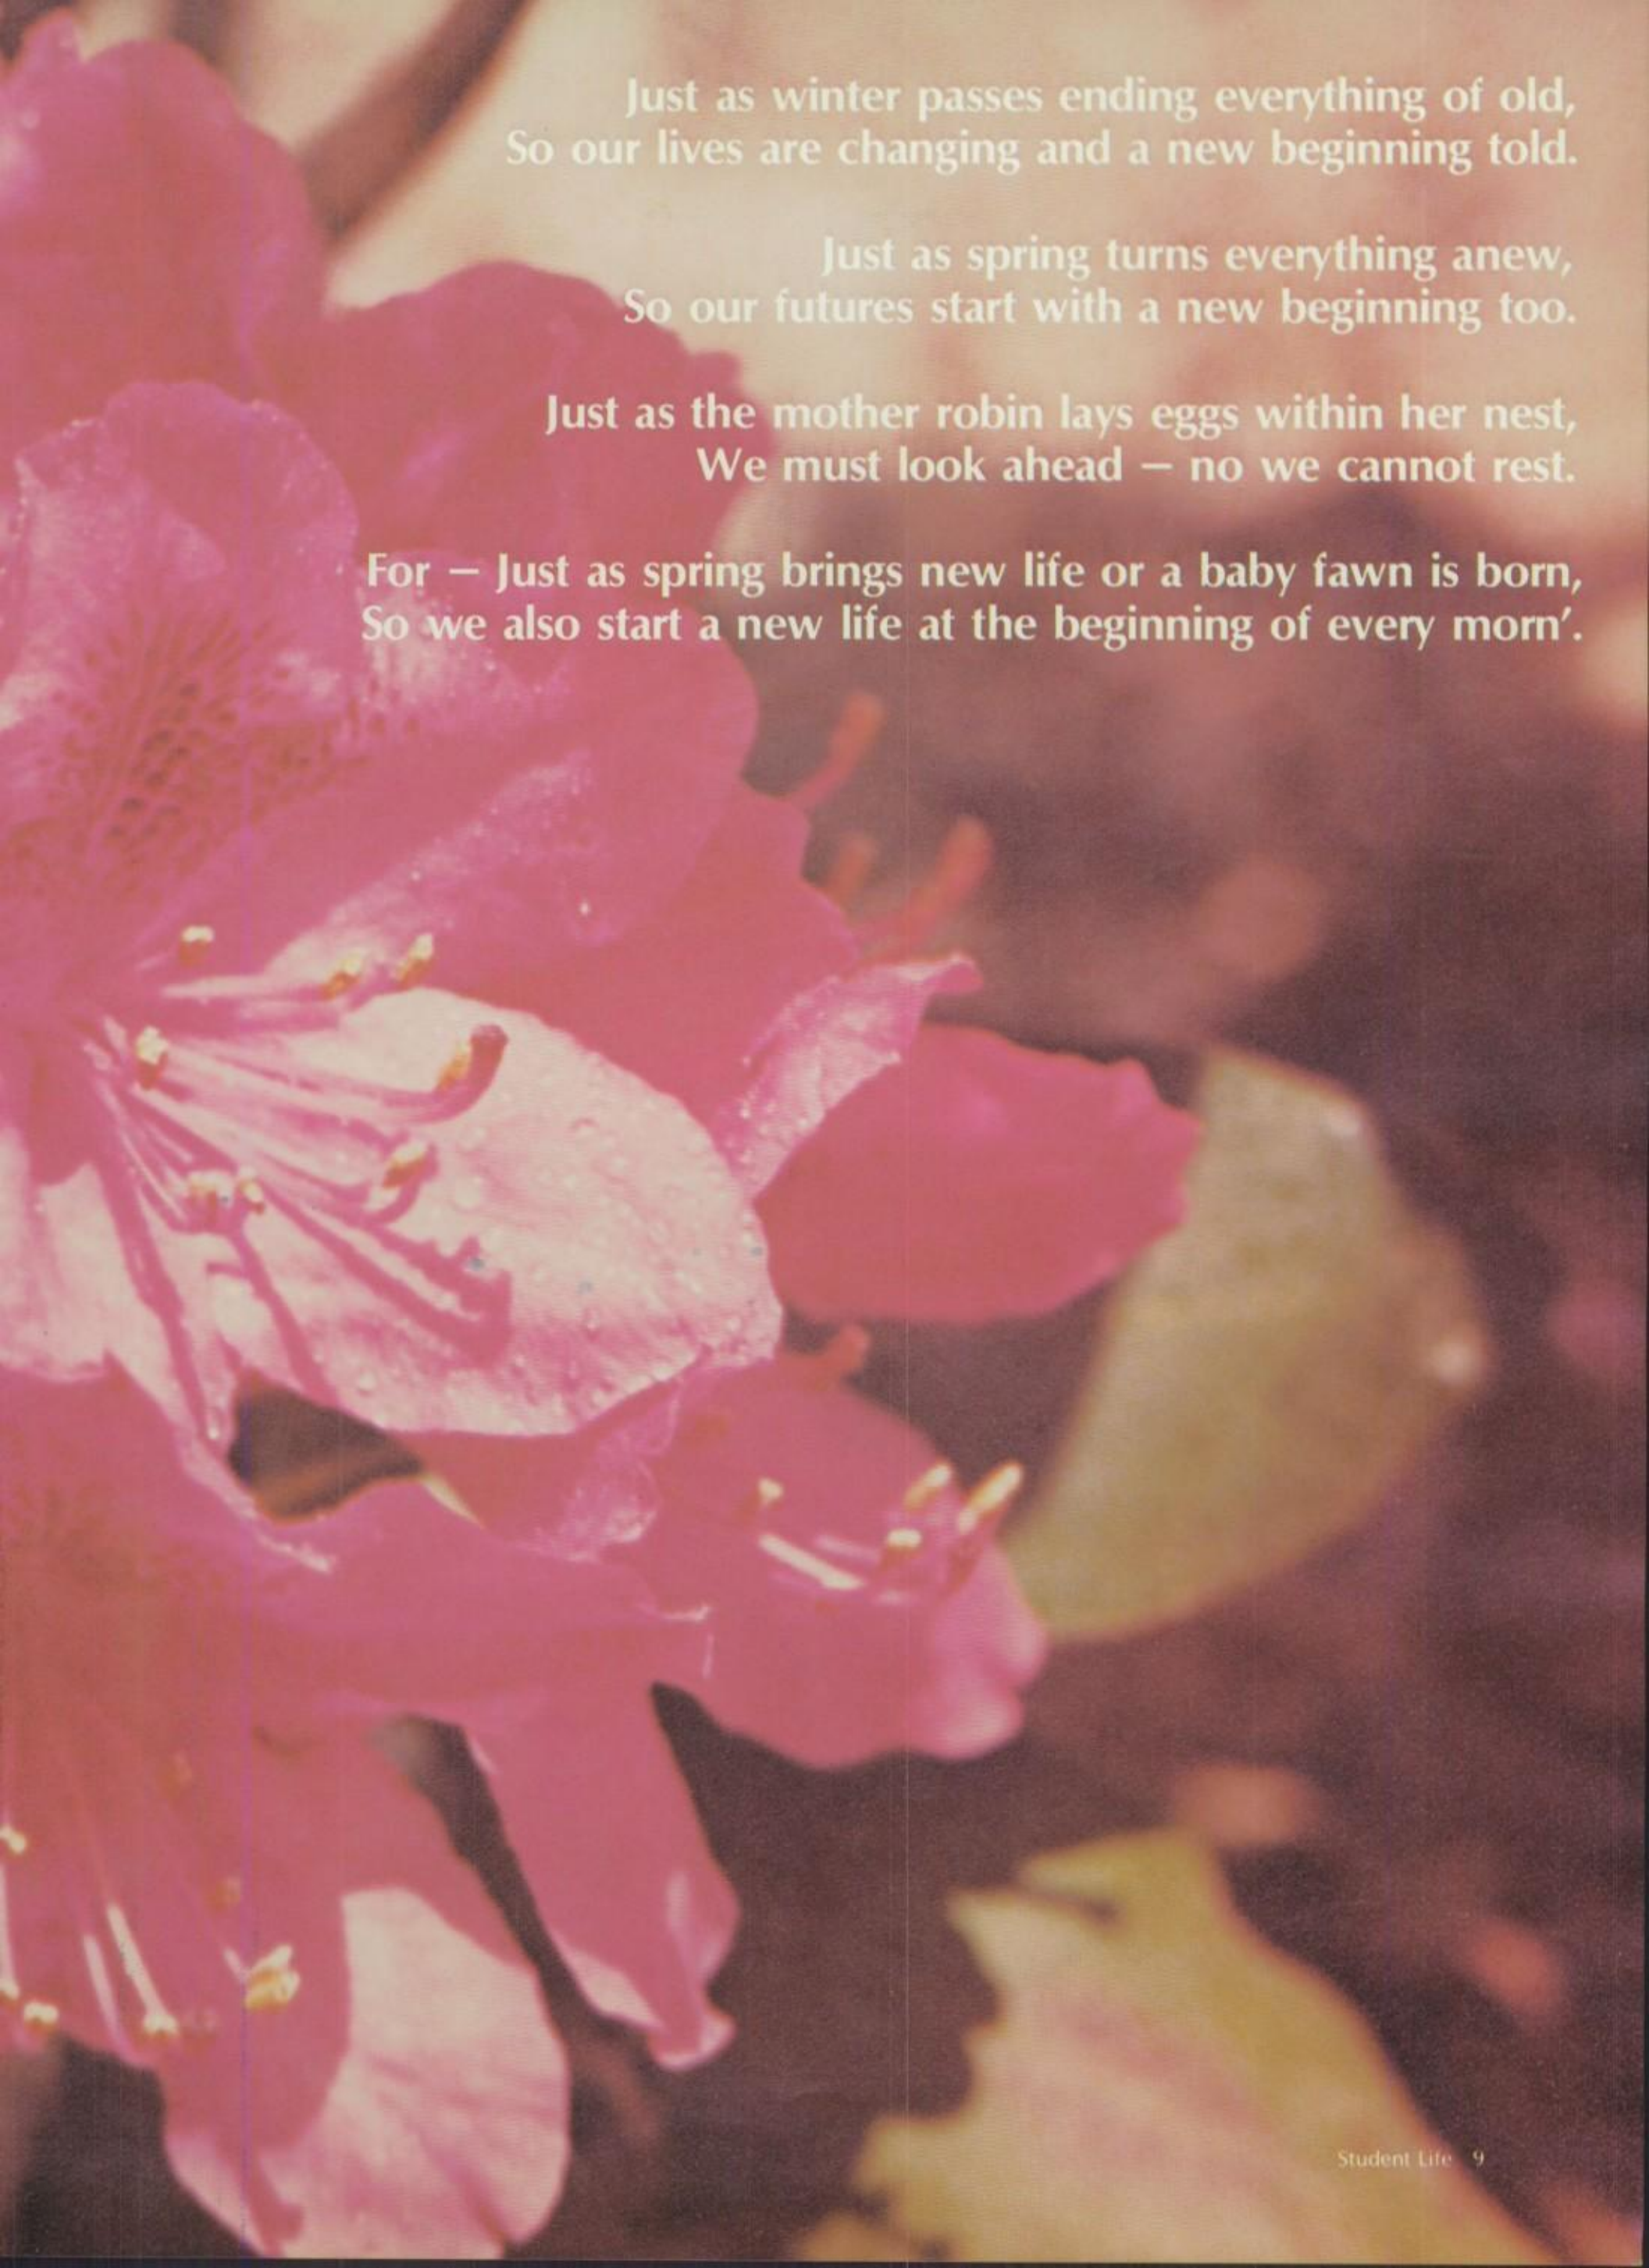
Student Life



Just as winter passes ending everything of old,
So our lives are changing and a new beginning told.

Just as spring turns everything anew,
So our futures start with a new beginning too.

Just as the mother robin lays eggs within her nest,
We must look ahead – no we cannot rest.

For – Just as spring brings new life or a baby fawn is born,
So we also start a new life at the beginning of every morn'.

Disney captures past fantasies

On May 11, 1979, the Junior Class of 1980 presented "The Wonderful World of Disney." After being introduced in the boys' gym, each couple relived their childhood favorites in "It's a Small World," "The Jungle Book," "Wish Upon a Star," "The Tunnel of Love," and "Cinderella's Castle." "Shazam" provided the music and refreshments were served.

The gym looked like the castle's courtyard including a black star-lit sky in a drop-ceiling effect. But the fun did not end here. The After-Prom was held at the Sons of Italy where "Capture" and "The Chris Denim Band" performed. The Junior-Senior Prom of 1980, under the direction of John Maielli, Mary Jo De Caria, and Joni Lordi was truly a night to remember for all who attended.

Fashions . . .
Fashions . . .

Fashions this fall at Lincoln reflected a change in the times. Some outfits resembled those of earlier days. These included slit and pleated skirts. Straight-legged dress pants worn with high heels seemed to be a must. Shades of purple and bright colors added to the scene of large cowl-necks and velour sweaters.

On the more casual side, jeans remained an all-time favorite at Lincoln. At tee-shirt inscribed with your favorite saying, team or school topped them off. Bibbed overalls of corduroy bore the labels of famous makers such as "Lee" or "Levis."

The shoes line varied greatly. Styles ranged from ankle-straps to clogs to "Nikes." Spike-heeled slides were also a new step.

Rain-filled day ends with gaity

On the rainy evening of September 28, eight girls participated in the 1979 Homecoming. Even though the rain dampened the field, the girls couldn't have looked more radiant. Dressed in suits of various colors, the girls were first driven around the field in cars. At half-time, they were lead onto the field by their escorts. As each anxiously awaited to hear the name of the queen, the band played softly in the background. Finally, the moment arrived and Lisa Brown was named the 1979 Homecoming Queen. She was escorted to the throne and presented a bouquet of roses. As each court member congratulated her, they received a rose. A dance was held in honor of the queen and her court after the game. All of this created a memorable day, not only for the court, but for all students.

Sale tops all previous records

Once again, the Class of '80 proved itself supreme. The class sold a total of $23,282.32 in its magazine sale, a record that broke all previous ones.

The Ellwoodian Staff performed a skit entitled "Thursday Afternoon Live," the purpose of which was to inspire magazine sales. It also provided much laughter as Roseanne Roseannadanna gave a lesson on selling, the Sararai magazine seller sold Barbara Walters a magazine, and green men from outer space arrived.

Many tempting prizes were offered to all those selling. Pitchers, mugs, and furry "weepuls" were included as prizes during the sale. Tom Dunning was top salesman. The top homeroom was 313. Plus, 316 received a pizza party for having everyone in their homeroom selling at least one magazine. Congratulations Class of '80 to a job well-done!

Olympic dreams become reality

Every four years, amateur athletes from nations throughout the world compete in a sports show called the Olympic Games.

Olympic events are divided into Summer and Winter games. The Summer Olympics run for about two weeks. These events include all track, field, and water events along with such sports as cycling, basketball, and volleyball. The Winter Olympics last ten days and include all snow and ice sports.

The official flag of the games is a white flag with five interlocking rings of different colors. The Olympic Flame, a symbol of peace and friendship, is lit at the start of the games.

Many of the athletes participating never dreamed they would actually have the chance to participate in these games. For a few lucky people, this dream does become a reality.

True identities finally revealed

On September 28, 1979, during activity period, the annual Mock Homecoming was held at the pep rally. Prior to this time, the senior girls picked eight guys for the court. This court consisted of John Maielli escorted by Randy McQuiston, Ron Russo escorted by Kris Morella, Vince Meneice escorted by Rich Fec, Sam Sirimarco escorted by Jamie Zingaro, Gene Lombardi escorted by Steve Mullin, Chuck Crawley escorted by Dave Spielvogal, and Jim Maochi escorted by Bob Sacco. Each "girl" tried to portray "the perfect figure" by applying make-up and wearing various women's apparel. The Nosemobile, a soap box derby, and a grocery cart added to this hilarious procession. During the ceremony, Vince Meneice was crowned queen and given a little extra slap in the face with whipped cream!

Costumes cause fun-filled day

The date of March 7, 1980, was one wild and crazy day at Lincoln High School. This was the date of our annual Senior Dress-Up Day. For many, it was a day when they could express, in costume, their feelings about a person or some event. Some seniors tried to hide their identities with masks or elaborate make-up. There were groups of seniors dressed together as something. We even had the "Beatles" show up to celebrate the occasion. Many peoples' costumes depicted what they are really like. Others were complete opposites. Much hard work and thought went into the making of the costumes. It all added to make an extremely memorable day for all those participating.

Journey abroad

Paraguay, un país situado en el corazón de la América del Sur, tiene una problación de 3,000,000 de habitantes, y casi la mayoría de las personas practican la religión catolica. Paraguay posee dos idiomas oficiales, el espanñol y el guaraní, por lo cual es un país bilingue. Es una Repúblíca Democratica y tiene el gobierno centralizado en la capital, la ciudad de Asunción. La flor nacional es una bella y colorida de nombre "Mburucuya," entre los diversos artículos tipicos sobresale la bella y complicada telarana tejida habilmente por la mujer paraguaya. La agricultura y la ganadería juegan un papel muy importante en el desarrollo nacional, y actualmente conjuntamente con el Brasil está llevando a cabo la construcción de una represa hidróelectrica de "ITAIPU" la que una vez finalizada pasara a ser la más grande del mundo, la de mayor generación de encrogía electrica. Paraguay, un país de paz y trabajo, con recursos naturales apenas tocados.

Paraguay is a country that is situated in the heart of South America, it has a population of 3,000,000 inhabitants and almost all of the people profess the Catholic religion. Paraguay has two official languages – Spanish and Guarani, so it is a bilingual country. It has a democratic republic and a centrally set government in the capital, the city of Asuncion. The national flower is pretty, with many colors and its name is "Mburucuya," between the typical articles it is above all the pretty web woven skillfully by the Paraguayan woman. The agriculture and cattle raising is very important in the national development, and actually joined with Brazil in making a hydro-electric dam "Itaipu" that in time will be the largest in the world and will generate the most electric energy. Paraguay, a country of peace and work, with natural resources scarcely touched.

highlights years

Turkey is a very beautiful and exotic land. Its people are simple and very kind. Throughout the summer I learned Turkey's culture and befriended its people. Chatalzeytin, the town in which I stayed, is located where the mountains meet the Black Sea in Northeastern Turkey. I swam nearly every day and walked for miles on end with my host family. While visiting Istanbul, we toured the famous Blue Mosque, Biikada Island, and Istanbul's floating bridge. Pears, rice, and eggplant compose the main diet. Turkey is mainly agricultural, although it is becoming more industrialized each year. My summer was a cultural and educational experience that will be with me always. Güle Güle!

Academic goals achieved at Lincoln

"Read Chapter Ten and do questions 1-17 for homework," "Test tomorrow on chapters six and seven," "I have to take every book home tonight!" and the list goes on. All of these are familiar sayings in the halls of Lincoln. Academics has become a stressed subject through our honors system and the pressure for good grades goes along with this. But every class is not strictly written work. There are those which provide the student with first-hand knowledge through their own experience. This class participation includes chemistry labs, identifications in biology, cardiopulmonary resuscitation, and oral speeches. Foreign languages give the student the opportunity to learn about faraway places and interpreting to English.

"Neither a borrower, nor a lender be."

"A little water clears us of this deed."

"To bed, To bed, To bed . . . "

"Frailty, thy name is woman."

"Dream the impossible dream."

"It's nice to be liked just the way you are."

"Catch ya later!"

Letter-writing urges release

On November 4, 1979, the American Embassy in Iran was taken over by a group of students who wished the return of the Shah, who was in America. Some women and blacks were allowed to leave at Thanksgiving, but 50 hostages were detained.

These actions caused our Assistant Principal, George Reese, to devise a plan whereby all high school students across the country would write letters to the Iranian Mission of the United Nations urging the release of these hostages. These letters were written during homeroom period on December 7. The Student Council also helped in this matter by bundling and mailing the letters.

Even though this may be only a small gesture on our part, everyone of Lincoln High School hopes it may do some bit of good for the hostages.

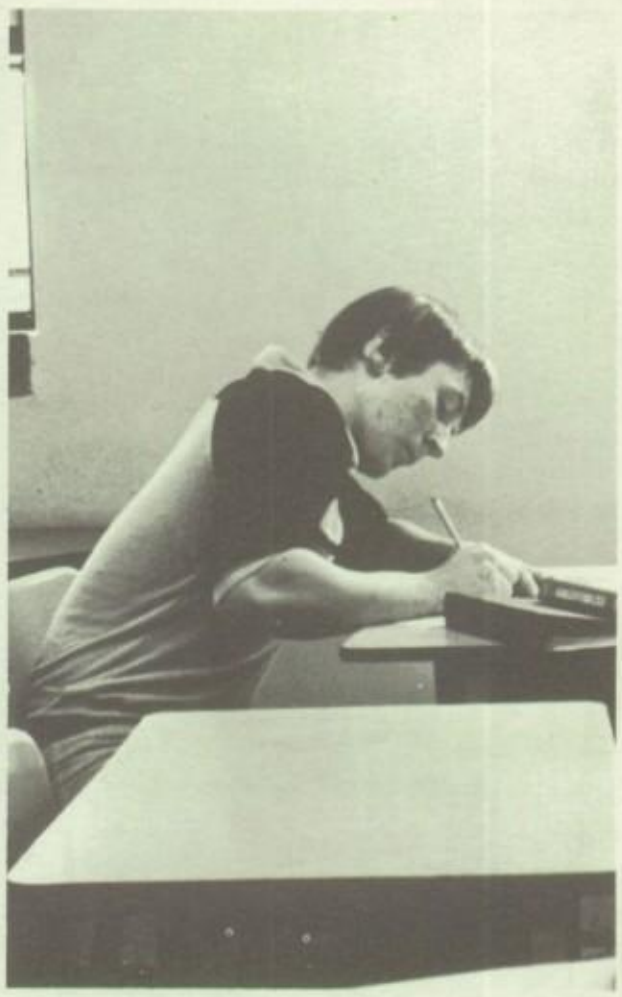
Work, a way to gain experience

Getting into the outside work force is a part of "Student Life!" Making your own money by working at a part-time job enables each student to gain experience, not only in costs and finance, but also in new interests which may lead them into careers. There is also that little incentive to make "some extra bucks" for weekends and "extra-curricular" activities! Working at Cully's Restaurant, Shop 'n Save, the Ellwood City Hospital, and the Ledger are popular choices of endeavor for many class members. But some resort to ordinary housework or school studies. Whatever the case, students of Lincoln are preparing themselves for their futures.



(Opposite page, top) Cully's employees take time out to say "cheese." (Opposite page, bottom left) As you can see, Shop 'n Save employees have become very much involved in their work. (Opposite page, bottom right) Gloria Bucci contributes to "Life at Lincoln!" (This page, top left) Steve Kardish, Ray Johns, and Philip Berezniak work with their boss at the Ledger? (This page, top right) Tom McCaslin studies . . . so diligently! (This page, left) "Jill, is that the proper way to clean house . . . sweeping dirt under the rug?!" (This page, above) Would you trust one of these hospital workers to take care of you?

'79 superstars prove supreme

The powder puff game of '79 proved to be one of excitement and chaos. Seniors received the kick-off of the game with Lori Trivilino running 75 yards for a touchdown in the second play. A two-point conversion was scored by Michelle Mikosz. The Juniors also scored a touchdown in this quarter by Traci Moser. In the middle of the second quarter, the Seniors out-did themselves again with a 68-yard run touchdown by Trivilino. Mikosz also scored another two-point conversion. Patty Marshall made one of her two touchdowns for the Juniors in this quarter.

In the third quarter, Linda Salpini ran a 60-yard touchdown. Then four consecutive passes were made between the Senior offense. The last pass went into the end zone where Mikosz caught the ball for a touchdown. Then with five minutes remaining in the game, Mikosz ran 50 yards for a touchdown. The Seniors took the game when Trivilino scored two extra points making the final score 32-30.

Seniors acquire wanted privilege

After many months of hard work by members of the Student Council, the privilege of an open lunch period for seniors was obtained. This group of seniors met with various people explaining exactly what they wished to accomplish. This involved speaking with the school board, cafeteria workers, and local merchants. Many bugs had to be worked out before the present system was adopted. Finally, the school board gave approval for a four-week trial period. No problems resulted during this month, so the school board voted to keep the open lunch period for seniors.

All of this goes to prove the effectiveness of the Student Council in our school. All seniors, not only this year, but for years to come, have one group of dedicated students and faculty members to thank for the time and effort they spent to gain this privilege for us. Thanks!

Zodiac signs . . . give clues to you

A great number of people fervently follow the belief in astrology. They run to the newspaper to find what their horoscope for the next day predicts. Some even hire people to tell what is in store for them. These things are told by the aid of the person's zodiac sign. This group of twelve signs is based on a person's birthday. There are certain things that are said to be characteristic of people born under each sign. There are other signs which are said to be harmonious with others. Each zodiac sign is ruled by a planet and a constellation and has a distinguishing color. Some people seem to display their signs, while others sharply contrast what is said for them. What do you think?

Senior members sing with pride

Choral Capers, Concert Choir, Senior Girls Chorale, and the Senior High Mixed Choir, made up this year's Senior High Choral Department. With the Concert Choir planning a trip to New York City and several of the choral students singing in Honors Chorus, director Sandy Ialongo had good reason to be proud of her students. This year's Concert Choir members sold poinsettias, candy bars, and M and M's to sponsor their traditional spring tour. Concert Choir's tour to New York City included visits to Staten Island, the Empire State Building, and the viewing of several Broadway musicals. The choir's annual Christmas Concert was highlighted by what choir members call a "flower fair." This is the first year in Lincoln High School history that this fair has taken place, and all Senior High Choir members hope to make this function a tradition at Lincoln.

Melodies still bring merriment

Under the watchful eye of Mrs. Ialongo, this year's Junior High Choir proved themselves to be talented singers. During the month of December, the Junior High Choir took part in the annual Junior/Senior High Christmas Chorale Concert. They delighted their audience by singing traditional Christmas songs along with modern versions of the old. Later in the year, the Junior High Choir performed in the Spring Chorale Concert. The choir members look forward to many more excellent concerts and eagerly anticipate participating in the Senior High Chorale Department. Lincoln should be proud of the talent that has been displayed by these Junior High Choir members and their accompanists.

Band works hard for perfection

This year, the Lincoln High School Blue Band under the direction of Mr. Robert Egan, took a well-deserved trip to Niagara Falls. In order to raise money for the trip, the members sold candles. Before anyone began to think about returning to school, the band members started to practice. When the two weeks of band camp were over, everyone knew the first two half-time shows and the pre-game show which were to be performed at the Pie Festival. That marked the beginning of the marching season. Friday nights and some Saturday afternoons were sacrificed. At the end of the marching season, the band held their annual band banquet at the S.O.I. After all of the games were over, concert music was rehearsed. The winter and spring concerts ended another busy year.

Students strike M-E-L-O-D-I-E-S

Junior High Band, made up of seventh, eighth, and ninth grade students, completed another successful year of concert band and marching band. They marched at the Pie Festival, the Halloween Parade, the Christmas Parade, and the Memorial Day Parade. For some, this was their first time at marching. When not marching, they performed indoors at the winter concert and the spring concert. In preparation for the concerts, the seventh grade students rehearsed first period while the eighth and ninth grade students rehearsed fourth and fifth periods. In contrast to the uniform worn by the Senior High marching band members, the students wore blue jackets with matching pants, white shoes, ascots and navy berets. In addition to the regular concert band, many of the students held membership in the Junior High stage band which rehearsed fifth period twice a week.

Under the direction of Mr. Egan, this year's drill team performed precision routines with the Lincoln High School Blue Band. The girls maneuvered their flags to many different marching times such as Superman, Dr. Pepper theme, and Cordoba. The band fund provided the squad with new, lightweight poles and flags to use in their routines. New and old routines were put together to form routines for three half-time shows and Senior Night. Through much hard work during the season, the girls learned the real meanings of fortitude and cooperation. All worked together to perfect the routines they proudly performed. All the girls, from the new members to the two and three-year members, gave much of themselves to make it a good season. Thanks to everyone, the Drill Team had a successful year.

Girls can twirl to lively tunes

This year's majorette squad consisted of four seniors and two juniors. They spent two weeks in August attending band camps to perfect their twirling routines. Barbara Pope was selected as head majorette and also doubled as feature twirler. The girls performed at pep rallies and at football games during the school year. The majorettes were also part of the Lincoln Blue Band during various parades. The highlight of the halftime at the Senior Night football game was the majorettes twirling ribbon batons. The girls sold candles to help raise money for the annual field trip with the band in the sprin spring. They will be going to Niagara Falls this year. The majorettes were honored at the Band Banquet held at the Sons of Italy in November.

Cheering squads show enthusiasm

Who are responsible for arousing school spirit and inspiring the student body to back the Wolverines? The cheerleaders are! They are the students who spend endless hours practicing cheers and planning pep rallies to bring back the spirit and pride at Lincoln. The Junior High Cheerleaders participated in the pie festival and exhibited highly polished cheers at the football and basketball games. With their smiles and enthusiasm, spirit grew at Lincoln.

Aiding the Varsity Cheerleaders, the J.V. Cheerleaders proved to be a hard working squad. They attended camp this summer at Westminster College with the Varsity Cheerleaders. Besides winning numerous blue ribbons at camp, the squad received a plaque for their superior ability and spirit.

The Junior High and J.V. Cheerleaders had one goal in common, to become a Varsity Cheerleader.

Girls cheer Ellwood players

The football games and the basketball games would have never been the same without the efforts of this year's varsity cheerleaders. These eight girls practiced everyday after school. Always on the move, our cheerleaders were models of the spirited, loyal students a school should have. Painting signs, making tags, and holding pep rallies kept the varsity cheerleaders busy during the school year. Our cheerleaders served refreshments to team members after practice, placed individual signs in each player's yard and arranged student buses to away games, in order to give our team the best support possible. This summer our cheerleaders participated in a four day camp at Westminster College. The girls learned jumps, mounts, cheers and chants to be used at their own schools.

Foreign affairs do concern them

The A.F.S., American Field Service, Club has a new sponsor this year – Mrs. Koszela. The activites of the club included: selling stationery, holding an assembly for juniors who were interested in going abroad, and the election of officers. Through this club, members can gain greater insights into different cultures. At an after school tea, cultural heritages were reflected in the souveniers from Turkey and Paraguay. Bob VanHorn was Lincoln's American Field Service representative to Turkey. Jorge Yvaskevich is a visiting student from Paraguay. Bulletin boards have been on display to awaken student awareness that Lincoln's A.F.S. Club is alive and going strong. Each member contributes to the club, in one way or another.

Lincoln artists paint over town

The Art Club, under the leadership of Miss Linda Miskolcze, sponsor, represented Lincoln through its cafeteria seal and window paintings. Art Club's successful community involvement led to additional offers to paint and draw. Besides its annual Halloween window competition, the Art Club also planned a mural in the library of the Hartman Elementary School and murals in the Jaycee Haunted House. Art Club members took a field trip in May which proved to be artistically educational. In addition, senior members received jackets. As a final memento to senior and former members, the club planned to place a sculpture of individual plaques, signed by the members, in the Commons Area. Painting windows, designing murals, and decorating the area in the cafeteria and the library are all a part of the Art Club's many efforts to paint the town.

Bowlers meet to improve scores

Meeting every Saturday morning at the Park Lanes Bowling Alley at 9:00, students in grades seven through twelve concentrate on their bowling games for upcoming tournaments throughout the year. Under the supervision of Mr. Boschini, over one hundred bowlers participate in a league with twenty teams. The low average bowlers are given handicaps in order to participate on an equal basis with high average bowlers. The top five girls and five boys compete in the MAC tournament at the end of the year. Jackets are awarded to bowlers in Senior High who have bowled in the league for at least two years. The growing number of members in the club not only adds to the club's success but also to Lincoln's school participation at large.

B-U-S-I-N-E-S-S for today's way

By holding a sale of Reese Cups, Business Club's members were able to finance two very timely events: they held their annual Thanksgiving Tureen Dinner, which was enjoyed by all the members; and, during National Secretaries Week, the club held a Secretarial Tea in April. The event, which honored the members of the club and high school clerical staff, was held in the Lincoln High School Library. The club's sponsor was Miss Virginia Ottobre. Those students who studies two or more business courses had the opportunity to join the club. They plan to use their learned skills for their future jobs as secretaries and accountants, for today's way of life. The jobs they plan to hold will play a major role in society since they will not only earn a living for themselves, but they will also contribute to the lifestyle of others.

Chess requires skill, strategy

Many students are uneducated in the game of chess; however, as for this year's Chess Club, a group of twenty members participated in this game. Unlike many activities, Chess Club involved both Junior and Senior High students, male and female. Chess Club members practiced during homeroom periods, study halls and after school in preparation for the many tournaments held during the school year. These tournaments were held within the club and with other schools. With the uprise of computer games, "Chess Challenger" proved to be helpful and fun for club members. This game was enjoyed by both the beginner and advanced player.

Computer Club gains knowledge

Computer Club, sponsored by Mr. Reed Brown held its meetings each Monday. This year the club has had more students involved than ever before. The only criterion necessary to be in the club was to have a sincere interest in computers, computer programming, and how computers worked. The meetings consisted of movies and thorough demonstrations of computers and computer programming. The school's computer which had been recently located on the floor was recently moved to Room 317. During the school year the club's members went on several field trips. These trips included a visit to the Pittsburgh Area Computer Club and various other computer centers throughout Western Pennsylvania. Also, a representative from Radio Shack visited the club. During his visit, the representative explained the various types of computers available to the consumer. The club also held a Christmas party.

Dramatics class portrays talent

"Sleeping Beauty" and "Alice in Wonderland" were the plays chosen by this year's Dramatics I classes. Mrs. Wetmur, the play's director, was both proud and pleased with the outcome of both performances of "Sleeping Beauty" and was presented with gifts at the end of her plays for the dedicated directing that she displayed. The other dramatics class play, "Alice in Wonderland", was also an overwhelming success. The children in grades four through six were delighted by the actors' and actresses' fine portrayals of their favorite Wonderland creatures and loudly applauded them during their bows at the end of the production.

Journalists add creative topics

Under the unfailing supervision of Mrs. Lori Sutton, this year's ECHO Staff got the facts down right. The staff clearly reminded the students that the paper belonged to them and not just the staff, by asking students to submit suggestions, drawings, poems, jokes, stories, and anything that displayed the students' interests. There was something for almost everyone in this year's ECHO, whether the reader was sports-minded, curious of current activities, or eager to complete brain-teasing puzzles. The success of the paper depended upon the cooperation of the staff, whose valiant workers never failed, and the students who purchased the paper. The class, formally named the Journalism class, was held eighth period. Through everyone's cooperation, Lincoln High School will have a paper that is "of the students, by the students, and for the students."

Homemakers form separate groups

The Future Homemakers of America Club here at Lincoln, better known as F.H.A., has taken a new approach. Headed by Mrs. Joan Gorgas, the club consisted of three separate chapters within our school. Each of the three foods classes had its own little club. Members of each chapter elected officers from their class. Conducted by the officers, meetings were usually held during class time on alternating Fridays. During this time, projects were discussed such as making baked dough Christmas ornaments. Early in November, F.H.A. members began to prepare various kinds of quick breads for the annual Open House, held on November 13. Along with making the many loaves of bread necessary, members served the bread along with punch which they made. Members took an interesting field trip to Baldinger's, a foreign foods store near Pittsburgh.

IMC workers can get it all done

Following the careful instructions of Mr. Nick Panico, Mrs. Betty Polovina, and Mrs. Rose Gotusso, the IMC workers soon learned the basic skills necessary for library and audio-visual work. The club was open to all students in grades eight through twelve. Shelving books, making photo-static and carbon copies, and running film projectors and other equipment were their main jobs. At the end of the first semester the members came in during school hours and took inventory of the books, filmstrips, tapes, transparencies, records, and microfilms. During the second week of school, an election of officers was held. As a result, Melanie Polis once again became president, and Bonnie McHale attained the office of secretary/treasurer. At the close of the school year the members enjoyed a party.

Student council changes customs

Two presidents, or are you seeing double? Junior High Student Council changed its tradition by electing two people to the office of president. The co-presidents, Ronelle and Michelle Selva, happen to be twins.

Once again, the Junior High Student Council sold refreshments at the junior high football games. During the basketball season, Student Council offered two varieties of pins. One was a basketball player and the other was a team picture.

To help make the Christmas season merrier, Junior High Student Council decorated Crescent Place for the enjoyment of the elderly. In addition, they sponsored a Christmas dance and collected stuffed animals for Childrens' Hospital.

During the Iranian Crisis, they aided the Junior High students in writing letters to the Iranian Embassy under the supervision of Mr. Reese.

As you can see, Student Council had a productive year.

The "Key" word work as a unit

Under the direction of Allan Cumo, the new sponsor, the Lincoln High Key Club activities were scattered far and wide. They started the year with their annual bonfire, which was a success. They also were in charge of the concession stand during the basketball season. All of the money that they collected was used for their annual convention which was held at Seven Springs. The club is a social group and also a service group. Some of their social activities were a canned food drive and a few ski trips. Once again girls were permitted into the club. During the year, all of the club members competed against each other for points. A certain number of points were needed to go to the convention at Seven Springs.

New members really involved

Involved is the word best used to describe this year's French Club members. They showed involvement not only in their attendance at monthly meetings which included food and games, but also by their attendance at special events which were held throughout the year. They held a Halloween Party, a Christmas Party, and a Mardi Gras celebration. Mardi Gras, which means "fat Tuesday," was celebrated the day before Lent not only in France, but also in New Orleans. The club's members dressed up, making the whole event seem like a costume party. The club's sponsor, Mr. Robert Galvin, took pride in the large number of students who joined the club and attended the meetings. This year's officers include President, Ray Bates; Vice President, Ted Borter; Secretary, Darla Redmond; Treasurer, Grace Su; and Publicity Chairmen Sue Dobransky and Trina Thorpe.

Ich spreche die Deutch sehr gut

Guten Tag! Wie geht es ihnen? These are just a few of the many phrases that one would hear if taking part in a German Club meeting. This year's students were supervised by Miss Schuller and capable German Club officers. The leaders for this year's club were Julie Abraham, President; Debbie Hanna, Vice President; Linde Ghere, Secretary; and Chuck Weisz, Treasurer. Also guiding this year's club were Beth Yeykal, acting as Publicity Chairman and Jane Houghton presiding as Refreshment Chairman. Besides having monthly meetings and bilingual conversations, this year's German Club participated in various club activities. The club learned about the customs, traditions ,and cultures of their native Germany. They were informed of how the people of Germany live and of the differences between their lifestyle and those of the people of the United States.

Spanish members taste new foods

With its annual dinner, Spanish Club concluded another good year. Under the supervision of Mrs. Marion Panico, the club finalized plans to make this year's dinner better and tastier than before. Some of the foods featured included Paella, a type of stew that originated in Valencia, Chile Peleano, a dish made from eggs and hot peppers and flan, a pudding-like carmel flavored dessert. At the close of the dinner, Pam Leo taught the Spanish Club members how to disco-dance to some popular Spanish rock songs. Also featured was Jorge Yvaskevich, this year's foreign exchange student. The club also held a Christmas dinner which included a study of the culture and religion of Spain. Each month a different officer was put in charge of either a meeting or a dinner which helped to bring new ideas into the club.

Students reveal ingenious style

Under the new direction of Miss Karen Marino, the Lincoln High School National Honor Society successfully completed their 1979-80 school year. Participating in various activities, the club's members showed qualities of leadership and proved themselves to be capable of handling many responsibilities. A few of their activities included tutoring fellow students during their lunch period, acting as ushers during the school's annual open house, and aiding the newly graduated seniors in packing away their caps and gowns. In the early spring the National Honor Society welcomed new students to their club and thus continued the tradition of supplying Lincoln High School with leaders and helpers. Their final activity, a picnic for the graduating seniors, was an appropriate climax to the National Honor Society's exciting club year. The seniors of the club appreciated this activity and thanked their fellow members.

This club the "picture" group

Who are those wild and crazy people who roam the halls with cameras? No one other than Lincoln High Photo Club members could fit this description. Under the leadership of Frank Geniviva, the Photo Club members are getting quicker fingers and sharper eyes. The Photo Club was contracted to photograph for the ECHO besides its usual agenda of pictures for contest, football mothers, Y-Teens dance, the prom, the senior dinner dance, and several other events. To improve their skills and to better understand the mystery of photography, the Photo Club attended a workshop and scheduled a field trip. Many members also took Photography I. Through this and club projects, members were able to perfect their skills.

Pride describes members of PYEA

Under the guidance of Mrs. Cheryl Franus, PYEA completed another successful year of service. They served at the football games by fervently laboring at the concession stands. In preparation for the football games, the girls in PYEA met at the Hartman Library to bag peanuts which were also sold at the games. On November 2, the treated themselves to a Halloween Party. In serving others, they sponsored the "Jamie Laritz Banned," musical group which performed at an assembly. By putting on Christmas and Spring plays this active club served the elementary students. Finally, they took a rest and went on a weekend trip themselves. A load of praise and gratitude goes to this fine club for their many years of service. As in the past, each year brings new ideas for serving the needs of others.

Seniors DESTROY Junior's Dreams

The Junior/Senior Powder Puff Game erupted quickly as Lori Trivilino ran for two touchdowns and passed to Michelle Mikosz for two conversions for a 16-0 Senior lead. The Juniors, coached by Rick Roth and Dave Ferrese, cut the gap to 16-12 at halftime. The second half proved to be an incredibly exciting offensive explosion. The Juniors added two touchdowns and the Seniors, coached by John Maielli and Randy McQuiston, scored a touchdown and a conversion to make it 24-24 with five minutes left. Trivi hit Michelle on a long bomb and a conversion for a 32-24 lead. The Juniors scored again, but were stopped by a tough Senior defense on the conversion attempt. The final score read: Seniors 32, Juniors 30.

Sophs, Freshmen unable to score

Lincoln's sophomore and freshmen girls battled it out for this year's bragging rights. The teams engaged in a mighty defensive struggle, as neither offense managed to score, and the game ended 0-0. Fine quarterbacking performances were turned in by sophomore Gina Wolfe and freshman Holly Mulhollen. The crucial plays of the game occurred as Beth Pegg caught Renee DeLisio from behind at midfield to prevent a touchdown, and the freshmen were able to stop the sophomores when they had a fourth and goal at the one yard line. The sophomores were coached by Lou Nocera, Joe Sulia, and Scott Markle, and the freshmen were coached by Mark Raykovich, Jim Gallaugher, and FuFu Wolfe.

Seniors' dream becomes reality

This year Senior High Student Council reached far more goals than usual. The main reason for this is that this year membership was based on a volunteer basis.

Under the direction of Mr. Irwin, the club members joined various committees such as the cafeteria committee, the library committee, the Christmas committee, the apple-cider committee, and, of course, the open lunch committee. It was within these committees that the heart of the work was accomplished.

The greatest achievement, getting open lunch for seniors, took months of work for the highly dedicated members of the open lunch program. Work began in late September and after many meetings with the school board, it was finally approved. On January 7 Student Council members were in their glory, as seniors freely left the school sixth period.

Members predict daily newscasts

Allan Rossman, Beth Brooks, Mark Stramella, Wayne Huck, Judy Dolter and Ron Venezie were the 79-80 sound crew members. With two returning seniors and one returning junior, the Lincoln High School Sound Crew was well-equipped to give daily A.M. and P.M. announcements. Under the supervision of Mr. Brown, this year's sound crew awakened Lincoln's students to the current going-ons with accuracy and originality. Along with reciting the Pledge of Allegiance, allowing time for silent meditation, and announcing club activities, the Lincoln Sound Crew added variety to the standard procedures by playing special records, turning in the cafeteria to WPEZ, and participating 101% to make the teachers and students appreciate and enjoy their daily announcements. This year's sound crew demonstrated pride and precision when delivering addresses over the PA system.

Lincoln stagers light the stage

Under the direction of Mr. Brown, the Lincoln High Stage Crew began another enlightening year. A relatively but an important part of our school activities, members diligently offered their services at dramatic presentations, assemblies, and concerts. With the aid of Mr. Brown, these students learned many lighting and sound techniques. Their main jobs were to operate spotlights and work the microphones, which helped to make each performance a success. Stage Crew members were also responsible for creating special effects. Members also helped in the production of the Senior Class Musical. They were mainly in charge of changing scenes and working the lights. To end an active year, Stage Crew members went to see a concert.

Actors display unusual talent

Under the supervision of Mr. Galvin, the Senior Dramatics club of Lincoln High School successfully completed their club year with a heavy round of applause. The traditional initiation of new members supplied the club with fresh new talent and all types of personalities. The highlight of the club's year was the annual Sr. Dramatics play. Performed to an audience composed of students and adults alike, the play was termed as "an overwhelming success." The actors and actresses in the play were both talented and professional. Senior Dramatics club officers for the 1979-1980 year were Beth Brooks, President; Becky Price, Vice-President; Beth Reese, Secretary; and A. J. Rossman, Treasurer. The officers and Mr. Galvin were very pleased with the success of this year's play and sincerely wish all future Senior Dramatics clubs the best of luck.

Ushering events enthrall members

Have you ever noticed the well-dressed young people who seem to show up at all the events that take place in the Lincoln High School auditorium throughout the year? Well, these people, under the direction of Mr. Don Hollerman, form the ever-popular Usher's Club. They ushered at choir concerts, band concerts, dramatics presentations, movies, and the Senior Class Musical. As in the past years, they helped out at the annual AFS Hobby Show, and the Police Youth Bureau Puppet Show. While ushering at the school events the club's forty-seven members passed out various programs. For the first time this year they sponsored several dances. The club's members thoroughly enjoyed themselves when they went on a field trip this spring. Its continued success has made the Usher's Club very popular.

Sponsors strive for better club

Only superior athletes were eligible to become members of this year's Varsity Club. The requirements were to have lettered in one-sport and to have actively participated in another. Varsity Club started out the year with new sponsors, Mr. Cumo and Mr. Meehan. The club elected new officers and the year was under way. The Varsity Club sponsored the tenth annual powder puff game, where the Senior Superstars defeated the Junior Jocks by the score of 32-30. The Sophomore and Freshmen game which was played during the halftime was tied at zero. Included in the job of sponsoring the powder puff game was the selling and distribution of football shirts, the sale of tickets and the printing of the programs. The new sponsors have started the Varsity Club on its road to success.

An assignment prevent cancer

This year the Yough Against Cancer, better known as YAC, had a new sponsor, Miss Holly Meehan. Miss Meehan started in the right direction by having the club participate in "The Great American Smoke-Out." This enabled the club members to try and stop as many people from smoking as they could. In order to raise money, members sold the following: daffodils, different colored carnations on Valentine's Day and lollipops. Some of the money raised was given to the Cancer Research Center. The members also heard different speakers who have cancer and how they have coped with it. At the end of the year, a field trip was taken. The officers of the club were: President, Marla Vignovich; Vice-President, Michelle Mickosz; Secretary, Lora Portone; Treasurer, Jody Bunney; Representatives, Suellen Grady, Gloria Bucci, Jeff Houk and Rob Sutkowski.

Past activities keep group busy

Under the direction of Mrs. Pander and Mrs. Houk, Y-teens began a busy and successful year. At several meetings, guests were invited to entertain the girls. The most fascinating guest, a hypnotist, put on a very exciting show. With his exciting act, the hypnotist instantly captured the attention of his audience. A fashion show was also presented to entertain the group. The group provided Halloween favors for the members of Crescent Place. The girls enjoyed their Halloween and Christmas parties where food and drinks were served. The members added light to Christmas when they sold Luminary Kits. For the Easter season, they sold candy. The girls put the profit from the year's activities into the Y-teens Spring Dance held annually for the members. The girls spent many long hours working on the dance to make it a memorable event.

Talent prevails within students

Combine a staff of twenty-four dedicated students and two equally dedicated advisors and you get one fantastic yearbook. Surprisingly, work began in the second semester of the 1978-79 school year with the choosing of a theme. All through the first semester of their senior year, the staff worked towards meeting their goals. Many long hours were spent writing copy blocks, planning pictures and taking the pictures. There were moments of tension when pictures didn't get taken, pictures didn't come back from the developer and the undertainty in meeting the next deadline. To balance this there was a sense of accomplishment in drawing a workable layout, writing a good copy block, getting just the right picture and meeting your deadline on time. The Super Seniors broke all previous goal records by raising $22,282 in their magazine sale.

In final three, hopes shattered

With the return of Mr. Spellman as head coach, this year's baseball team completed its season with a record of 7-5. Marty Sberna finished the year as the team's leading hitter with a .344 average. Ray Johns led in pitching with a record of 6-0 and he also led the team's pitching with a 1.89 ERA. Although thirty-six games were scheduled, because of rain only twenty-three games were played. Out of the twenty-three games played, the team turned in a record of 16-7. When asked what he thought about the 1979 season, Coach Spellman felt that the turning point of the season was when they lost to Butler 3-1. Coach Spellman also replied, "It was a successful season but the team and I were disappointed in not winning the section title after maintaining a first place lead until the final three games."

Young sprinters gain experience

Under the direction of new head coach Eugene Rodgers, the boy's track team ended its season with a 1-8 record. The team's only win came against Farrell with a score of 77½ to 72½. In the 120-yard high hurdles event Clay Barkley placed first and Joe Sulia came in second. Ellwood swept the mile run event as Dave Houghton placed first, Dean Novalesi took second and John Liss came in third. In the field events, Ellwood swept the pole vault competition as Warren Sullivan placed first, Lon Santis placed second, and Jim Varrati came in third. Jeff Redmond came in first place and Joe DeRosa placed second in the discus competition. The team elected Clay Barkley, Jeff Redmond, and Warren Sullivan for honorary tri-captains. Clay Barkley led the team with 55 points this season.

Lincoln netters tie for second

The Lincoln tennis team finished a most successful 1979 season by tying Neshannock for second place in Section II with a record of 6-4 and 8-6 overall. The team's doubles pairs did very well in the Section II Doubles Tournament. Ken Moskal and Tom LaRitz reached the semi-finals of this tournament before bowing to the eventual victors. Allan Rossman and John McElwain, Ellwood's number 2 doubles team, became the surprise of the tournament by upsetting Sharon's and Blackhawk's number 1 teams and they also reached the semi-finals. Senior lettermen LaRitz, Moskal, and Daryl Dombeck led the team during the year's matches. Lettermen Allan Rossman, John McElwain, Lou Nocera, Ted Borter, Jim Smith, Mike Nachazel, and Gary Keller showed great improvement during the season.

Wolverines experience a disappointing season

The Wolverines, under the direction of the new head coach James Rankin, ended the season with a disappointing record of 1-9. In the first game, which was exhibition, the Wolverines hosted Shenango. Inexperience hurt the Wolverines. They ended with the score of 27-13.

The following week the Wolverines hosted Rochester, where they experienced their first and only victory. The Wolverines played an all around good game, and came out on top with the score of 13-7.

The Wolverines, still at their home field, took on New Brighton. They were defeated by the score of 28-7. Interceptions proved to be the main cause of the defeat.

The Wolverines then traveled to Beaver Falls. This proved to be one of their toughest games. They found it hard to control the run against Beaver Falls' tough backs.

The Wolverines then returned home, where they came up against Beaver. They played a hard fought game, although the score of 33-7, Beaver, did not indicate it.

Back on the road the Wolverines traveled to Farrell. Down 6-0, the Wolverines had a chance to come back, but a series of penalties halted their drive. The next opponent Ellwood faced was Western Beaver. This game proved to be a tough defensive battle for the Wolverines because of so many offensive interceptions. Western Beaver capitalized on the interceptions, returning most of them for touchdowns. In the final three games the Wolverines went on to lose to Freedom, Sharon, and Center.

Young gridders gain experience

The Junior High football team under the direction of head coach Alan Cumo, ended the season with a 1-5 record. Their season opened when they played Aliquippa and fell in defeat with the score of 20-0. The Wolverines went on to lose the next two games to Freedom 48-0, and Center 46-6. In the Center game, Scott Marshall recovered a fumble and went on for the score. On the next game, Ellwood won on a forfeit by Hopewell. Ellwood ended their season by losing to New Brighton 14-0. There were many defensive players such as Doug Loccisano, Pat DeCaro, Scott Marshall, Rodney Venezie, Alan Harris, Frank D'Ambrosia, Chris Sokol and Jay Lorusso, who did a fine job in their last year on the Jr. High team. The offense did a fine job even though they had many new players on the team.

Golfers achieve Section X title

The Lincoln golf team enjoyed a most successful season and brought home Lincoln's first section championship in over a year. Led by coach Amos Mazzant and seniors John Maielli, Jerry Ferruchie, Steve Kardish, Jim Gallaugher, Allan Rossman, and Bob Sacco, the team simply outplayed their section opponents with an 8-0 record. Unfortunately, they went down to defeat in the first round of W.P.I.A.L. play-off competition.

The team achieved many honors other than just the Section X championship. Maielli, Ferruchie, and Kardish captured the M.A.C. Championship, and Kardish advanced to the finals of the W.P.I.A.L. Individual Championship. Ferruchie set a contemporary section record with a sing single round 36, and the team set a record with their 199 total against Riverside.

One amazing statistic is that the Lincoln Linkers outscored their section opponents by the exceptional total of 83½-4½.

The Ellwood City Basketball Team, under the direction of Head Coach Joe Acotto and Assistant Coach Jeff Meehan improved their section record this year with a 4-10 record. The team started pre-season play with a powerful 5-0 record.

The Wolverines began their section play with a loss to Mohawk. Courson led the Wolverines with 12 points. They then went on to defeat Mars by the score of 62.56. Rick Roth lead the Wolverine victory with 21 points. Their other victories came against Richland with the score of 7-56, Mars 64-44, and Wilmington 54-43. Coach Acotto said of the season's turn around, "Once they won a few games, they felt they could beat anybody as long as they played as a team. Their overall desire and hustle and the 'never say die' attitude helped us to win." Even though the Wolverines had a fairly good season, they lost some tough games. One of their losses was against New Wilmington when the Wolverines lost a disappointing game with the score of 69-68. Courson lead for the Wolverines; he also lead the team in overall scoring. They played another tough game against Richland. The Wolverines lost 75-54, but the score does not indicate the fact that the Wolverines also played against the officials. They closed out the season with a hard loss to their high school rivals, Riverside, by the score of 65-62. At this game the seniors received recognition for their performances with the Wolverines. Coach Acotto also recognized this year's team for "starting a winning tradition that will hopefully carry over for the future teams at Ellwood."

Under the direction of head coach Sheryl Smith and assistant coach Deedy Suppa, the girl's basketball team ended their season with a 0-14 record. In the game against Slippery Rock the Ellwood girl's lost 46-45. The high scoring for Ellwood was led by Lori Trivilino with 17 points and Michelle Mikosz adding 12 points. In the game against Shenango the girl's lost 43-38 with Wendy Hoffman scoring 13 points for the losers. Michelle Mikosz and Wendy Hoffman led the team as captains. Mikosz also led the team with 152 points for the season. Following right behind Mikosz was Trivilino with 115 and Hoffman with 77. Next season they will have 5 returning lettermen that will help the team to have a successful season.

Gymnasts strive for superiority

The Lincoln girls gymnastics team finished their season with an overall record of five wins and seven losses. Captain Cindy D'Ambrosio set an all-around record of 30.42 at the Lincoln vs. New Wilmington meet. Her individual scores comprised of 7.9 on vault, 7.26 on bars, 7.26 on beam and 8.0 on the floor exercise.

The following girls set season records for individual apparatus; Pam Lucarelli on vault; Cindy D'Ambrosio on bars, beam, and floor.

The team had five lettermen, each instrumental in keeping the gymnastics team well balanced. These lettermen — Cindy D'Ambrosio, Tammy Mathas, Stephanie Emig, Pam Lucarelli and Patti Marshall — proved to be all-around gymnasts. Beside setting many records with their high scores, this year's team also had the most members qualify for W.P.I.A.L. Districts. Cindy, Pam, and Stephanie represented Lincoln High School in District Competition.

Young wrestlers earn experience

The Ellwood City Wrestling team ended the season 0-14 under new coach Jim Rankin. Frank Colao assisted the team. This year's team had 9 returning lettermen: Randy Gatto, Dave Italiano, Shawn Sutch, Rick Sutch, Ron Gatto, John Treveline, Jim Gallaugher, Eric Dombeck, and Brian Bleakney. Letterman Randy Gatto, top wrestler, led the team with a record of 11-5-1. The Wolverines suffered because of the fact that they had no wrestlers for the 145 and heavyweight pound weight classes. With 3 seniors leaving, hopefully more people will come out for the team.

Lincoln Gunners aim for victory

The Lincoln High School rifle team, under the direction of Mr. Dewey Minteer, ended its season with a 5-9 record. The team beat Seneca Valley, Slippery Rock, and Butler once and defeated Deer Lakes twice. The lettermen for the 1979-80 season comprised: Stephanie Custozzo, Jon Minteer, George Schuller, Joe Rassman, Dave Hazen, Jeff Houk, Bill Smith, John Kingston, Jeff Davis, Jim Giffen, Mike Koziar and Dean Custozzo. Jon Minteer, George Schuller, and Joe Rassman have been on the team for three years. Two-year letterman and team captain Stephanie Custozzo represents the only senior on the squad. Coach Minteer stated that the toughest opponent this year was North Allegheny. The highest score of the rifle team this year came against Seneca Valley earning a total of 992 points out of the 1000 possible.

Administrators act as mediator

The Ellwood City Area School Board, along with Superintendent Dr. John DeCaro, has done a fantastic job for the students as well as the public in the educational program here at Lincoln High School. In order to execute their decisions on different school policies they must have cooperation among themselves and also the school officials.

The public was able to attend the monthly meetings of the School Board, where new and old business was discussed. One of their main concerns was planning of the school budget. They also planned different tactics to help improve the student body of the Ellwood City Area School District.

The secretaries' duties consisted of aiding the Superintendent during his daily work and retains the information for the School Board when they are not in session.

Students depend on principals

The success of Lincoln High School relies upon the knowledge and the experience of these three able men; Mr. Magnifico, head principal, Mr. Reese and Mr. Spellman, assistant principals. Their jobs vary from the discipline of the students to finding entertainment for assemblies.

Mr. Magnifico establishes the school code and makes sure that all students obey them. He also informs students, as well as, faculty members of state regulations that must be abided by.

Approving early dismissals and tardy excuses are some of the many jobs of Mr. Reese. Besides these tasks, he takes care of attendance records and the discipline of the students.

Mr. Spellman is responsible for many of the activities held at our school. He sets up intramural programs for both junior and senior high students.

Counselors aid students' needs

The guidance counselors are an important part of student life. The many concerns of the guidance department includes problems of unemployment, grades, personal obstacles.

Mr. Alferd Bish, school psychologists deals with students ability to function socially.

Miss Baringer and Mr. Hairhoger, the junior high guidance counselors, handle scheduling, and administer the Otis-Lennon Mental Ability Test to junior students. Besides this, their concern helps to prepare students for their hardships of senior life.

The senior high guidance counselors, Mr. Jinar and Mr. Santillo, aid the students in choosing the appropriate career. They also conduct college board exams for juniors and seniors and schedule various college assemblies.

Office workers practice skills

Admitting late students, selling tickets for athletic events, typing, filing and answering the ringing phone constitute a secretary's daily routine at Lincoln High School. In addition to all of this, the guidance counselors always seem to find odd jobs for them to do.

Taking attendance and preparing absentee sheets is a major role of the secretaries. They must gather the list of absentees from each homeroom, combine them into one list, and see that one is delivered to each room.

Printing tickets and all of the programs for performances and sporting events are the responsibilities of Christopher Yahn, head of the graphic arts department.

Although our secretaries seem always to be preoccupied, they always find time to be courteous while performing their office skills.

IMC supplies Research Center

Where do students go to do research work, or just to get a good book? The answer to this question is the instructional materials center, alias the IMC, or better known as the library.

Mr. Nick Panico heads the IMC staff with Mrs. Polovina and Mr. Guttoso aiding him. Their jobs require knowledge of books and other reading materials which are contained in the library. The audio-visual department also provides students with extensive knowledge along with the library's 18,000 plus books and seven newspapers.

Whether students desire to widen their knowledge, or simply read a book, the library is the ideal learning center.

Lincoln High's patient people

Katherine Salvati

Eternally on their toes, the Lincoln Medical Staff patiently handles injuries as serious as a broken leg, to injuries as trivial as a broken nail. However, most patients who come to the staff suffer from illnesses. The nurses consider every illness with deep concern. They also administer shots and scoliosis tests, and conduct physicals. The nurses assist in junior class physicals and the examination of athletic teams. Consequently, without the medical staff, Lincoln would be without athletic programs.

Another time consuming event is the annual TB tine tests. Since it involves so many students, the medical staff must execute this task with efficiency. So, in these ways, practically every student gets to visit the nurse at one time or another.

English skills help for future

Every student in Lincoln High takes a required English class which consists of grammar, literature and writing. The English Department becomes very busy trying to prepare the Junior High for Senior High, and the Senior High for college. Some senior high students take the offered college preparatory classes. In these classes the teachers spend time teaching the students how to outline, write themes properly, take vocabulary tests and read novels. The seventh grade take a required Developing Reading class. Many junior high students who are not proficient readers take an offered Remedial Reading course. To help students express themselves to an audience, students can take the speech class offered. The English Department at Lincoln offers a variety of courses to suit each student's needs.

Social Studies present and past

Throughout the year, social studies played an important part in the education of the students. These students learned everything from the beginning of history to the present day countries and governments. From grades seven through twelve social studies is broken into different categories. The students begin studying the geography of the Western Hemisphere, and then move on to the beginning of U.S. History. The ninth graders are taught civics. This deals with the different branches of government in our state. World Cultures, taught in the tenth grade, teaches students of the many cultural habits of different countries. Students then go back to U.S. history, this time in more detail. Seniors then have a choice between economics, for the business student, and government. All courses help for a better understanding in the future government.

Problem solving with unknowns

Lincoln High's math department presented many courses this year to satisfy the student's needs. The courses ranged from the general math class, which teaches students the basics, to the puzzling class of calculus for college bound students.

The growing field of computers has brought a new course, computer programming, to Lincoln. How to run the computer and the BASIC language of the computer were the two main objects that teacher Reed Brown attempted to get across to his students.

These math teachers find it challenging to keep the students' minds on math alone during their class time. The introduction of new matters such as proofs, factoring, slope, tangent, and sine and cosine may seem at first to put students into a blur, but through the guidance of the teachers these students now have new doors to open to the future.

Students learn a better route

The science department at Lincoln High School had many new and interesting "experiments". The program consisted of several different courses. The study of living things, the nature of life, cell structure and heredity were some of the more interesting topics in the science classes. As part of the program, the physics classes studies principles of mechanics, electricity and other related sciences.

Teachers proceed to teach students the new procedures in the science field and how to put them to work in a lab. As part of their lab work they solve equations by trial and error and discover new kinds of theories that were unknown to them.

Speaking in the words of others

At Lincoln High School the students are offered a choice of languages as electives. The students choose among Spanish, German, French and Latin to further develop their interests in their original heritage. In these courses students learn how to speak, read and write the language they're studying. As part of the course, these students acquire a better historical background of the country and become more familiar with geographic places.

To help the students comprehend what others in the world are doing, they are taught to realize the significance of unknown occurrences and the meaning behind them.

Expressing new and old talents

The Fine Arts Department at Lincoln consists of many varied courses. In the Choral Department students enhance their minds by singing the proper way. Techniques of breathing through the diaphram and methods of sounds were taught. Students are given a chance to show their abilities and special talents. Besides Choir, Band and Art were some of the other courses. Vases, jewelry and pottery were made to enhance the beauty of a special place or person. The Band Department gives students with instrumental ability a chance to express that ability. Two types of band were offered, Concert Band and Marching Band. The bands also perform at Pep Rallies and some sports activities. As students grow older, they work to fulfill their hobbies and ambitions. The Fine Arts Department helps this to be a reality.

Classes develop skills and body

Physical education classes help students develop their bodies, minds and souls. With the different amounts of equipment the students were able to keep a little better in shape as the winter weather came. Physical Education helps students to strengthen the mind and muscles for better physical awareness of each other. Several different sports, dances, and other recreational activities were taught by the gym teachers. These different activities provide for a surrounding of fun and satisfaction for all.

Health classes provide the students with methods to improve their bodies and minds, such as dieting, how your mind reacts to body functions and systems of your body.

The greatest ambition of turning "sixteen" is being able to drive. In class and behind the wheel training is given to learn safety and proper ways to drive.

Industrial arts are self-made

The home economics and shop departments are very important in young students' learning process. They often bring out talents which students did not know they possessed. Numerous sewing courses are offered to help girls improve their sewing techniques and become competent seamstresses. Cooking acquaints students with the basic fundamentals of cooking. The boys can take a variety of subjects which interests them. They are wood and metal shop. In these classes the boys study cabinet-making, furniture upholstering, and welding. Mechanical drawing is taught for those students who want to go into drafting, designing, or architecture. In our society, one must be able to communicate in the languages of industry, technology, and science. Thus, he must be able to read diagrams and make sketches as a first step in understanding an industrial society.

Learn; practice many new skills

The business department tried to prepare students for the business world after graduation. The typing teachers, Miss Ottobre and Mrs. Pezzi, taught the students to make letters and papers at a speedy rate with perfection the key thing. In the accounting field, Mr. Stuart taught record keeping and accounting. These courses prepared students not only to take care of records needed in everyday life but also enabled students to take jobs as bookkeepers in small business. Mrs. Shaffer taught shorthand. Offered to certain seniors was a special work-study program, which allowed students to work part time in an office. At the end of the year, the best students in these classes will participate in competition. Hopefully, they will rank high.

Workers provide for assistance

Few people have ever realized all of the work it takes the custodians and matrons to maintain more than 150 rooms and to keep the grounds of our school in such good condition. Much of the custodial work is done in the evening when school is not in session. Floors are swept and minor repairs are done as rooms are readied for the next day's classes. During the summer months, the school room floors are waxed, the walls are painted and the desks are cleaned to prepare the school for the upcoming fall term.

Providing lunches for hundreds of starving students in a short period of time was the cafeteria's main goal during the school year. Under the direction of Tony Miller, these women started working early in the morning to prepare tasty, nourishing and inexpensive hot lunches for the students.

Robin,

To a really, sweet girl that I've known for a long time. Remember our Class and all the exciting crafts we made. Hope you have alot of fun in your Senior year. Remember those crazy movies you would tell us about in second period. Say, I sure wouldn't see me of those movies now, after what I hear they are like. I wish you the best of luck with Joe, and give you one word, (maybe two words of advice, so "Keep 'em!" He's Special, don't let him get away. Be Good, Take Care,

Your Friend,

Kelly Jo Boots

our cards that we got them? Rookat what they did after we left Marys and they stuffed their faces — we stop at Maura's B'day party and Mrs you and Patti are sitting out in the car wondering what was takin them so long — here we walk up to the door and see Clay, Dennis and Joe munchin out on cake while we sit in the car! Rolin never forget the time that Mr you Joe and Dennis Ugly pat? Rook how ugly them little kids were. Wow D never thought little kids could be so ugly! Here's a memory D know you'll never forget! Our try for the track team! What a laugh! We only wanted to run only when we felt like it. No wonder we got kicked off! Never forget how we didn't want to tell Joe and Dennis! Member how we would sit in the hall and steal all Anne's money and go to Johnnys and get pomo chips. Never forget how many nights we spent with Clay, just having a good ol time! Never forget all the great times making all them flowers at our Girls meetings. Rolin, we have made so many memories that D'll never forget any of them D aint gonna say D hope to have alot of good times this summer cuz D know we will!

Freshmen really feel together

A year of togetherness and fun was shared by this year's Freshman Class. Working together, they were able to show other students their ability to succeed. Being the first year for participation in activities, they became important figures in various clubs. While some boys participated in junior high sports, and a number of girls were involved in powder-puff, other students chose to be actively involved in Computer Club, Photo Club, Spanish Club, French Club, Latin Club, and German Club. They shared an overall active year together. Although this was their first year for involvement in activities, it was also their last year in Junior high. Through their togetherness they set an example for next year's Freshman Class. They leave junior high with numerous memories and enter senior high with an even greater feeling of togetherness.

You hope to make your dreams come true

S-U-C-C-E-S-S means pride

Under the reliable direction of Mr. Reed Brown and Mr. Donald Hollerman, this year's sophomore class had a very successful year. Attaining a record high for their candy sell, they surpassed their intended goal. They not only had success in selling, but also had great success in their studies. World Cultures, C.P. English, Algebra II, Driver's Education were some of the courses which were offered to them. In preparation for their Junior year, the students worked harder and set higher goals. They participated actively in many clubs, and a number of students held major offices for the first time. Senior high work proved to be harder for the students, but they strove to do well. All of the students are looking forward to next year when they will be Juniors.

Juniors strive toward progress

Under the supervision of Mr. Reed Brown and Mr. Donald Hollerman, the Juniors worked hard toward a successful year. A lot of Juniors looked forward to their junior year because they had plenty in store for them. Receiving their class rings was a very sparkling part of their year. Another event of the year was the construction of the Junior-Senior Prom. Many of the juniors attended the Prom which was held in May. Because they are now Juniors, they had more course choices such as: English III, C.P. English III, Accelerated Algebra III and Trigonometry, Calculus, U.S. History, and Traditional Chemistry.

In the fall, the Juniors had their annual candy sale kick-off skit which preceeded the sale.

The Juniors had fun, excitement, and hard work this year, but they are really looking forward to their senior year.

As you near the closing of your junior year
You think of all the wonderful memories
So sad that the year flew by so fast
With hardly a single tear

It's summer now and time for fun
Just let your spirits fly
But you still think back to your junior year
As you lie there in the sun

That special smile from a dear friend
Which means so much to you
Will be coming back for another year
Which is just around the bend

Anyway... Remember how me and you first became friends? It was all because of Dennis and Joe last year! We were in the same Biology class last year and you told me that you liked Joe. Do remember how and when I told him! Then member what Joe told Dennis and them at wrestling about you liking him. Then member how Dennis started liking me! Boy what a tease! Not now, at least not that I know! anyways never forget all our talks in 3rd period Biology last year about Joe and Dennis, wondering if we asked them to Y-teens if they go! Member when I finally got the nerve to ask Dennis (that nerve took 45 minutes to get) Then after I asked Dennis, we (me, Dennis etc.) asked Joe if he would go then member how you asked him to go. It was after a wrestling match. And it was so funny how he answered you! Then

Seniors strive for superiority

Under the leadership of Mr. Whisler and officers, the Senior Class of 1980 enthusiastically set out to prove this year to be their most successful year. The Seniors exhibited their spirit through the magazine sale. They not only achieved their goal of $19,000, but they also went over their super goal of $22,000 with a grand total of $22,282,32, breaking the school record by $1,139.27. Once again, the seniors of '80 proved teamwork to be the key to success.

This year Lincoln High happily welcomed Jorge Yvaskevich as our foreign exchange student. His presence here has helped to make our senior year our most memorable year.

This may be our last year at Lincoln High School, but we shall always remember our Alma Mater and the friendships we have formed.

1980 Homecoming

A stream of cars flows through the crowd,
Their goal is on the field.
As each girl dreams that she will be
The one whose wish is real.

As tears of happiness were shed
For all the night demands,
A special girl's own dreams came true
As the crown exchanged hands.

Each girl then hugged and kissed the queen,
Followed by many friends.
She left the field high in the clouds.
Her mem'ries never end.

4Robin,

What can D say to someone who is my best friend and D've shared practically everything with you. D guess D couldn't ask for a better BEST friend than you! 4Boy we've been through so much, and we've never fought once. 4now what D call a true friendship. 4ver forget all the talks we'i had!

To a friend

When all the leaves turn shades of brown
And summer skies become autumn haze,
Look back with me on welcomed memories,
The reminders of our high school days.

Remember our friends, tried and true,
And all that we did and shared.
A comforting smile, an understanding word
Showed how much they really cared.

READ THIS POEM.

TURN TO PAGE SENIORS 210.

For mere words cannot explain
The importance of a friend.
They are there when you need them most;
On that you can depend.

And so, my friend, as the years pass by,
Never forget this, never –
That true friendship is a precious gift,
One that lasts forever.

– Jackie Bober

In loving memory of a friend lost

Robert Freeman
Born: December 4, 1960 – Died: June 3, 1979

In this life we're here but a blink
In God's immortal eye.
We strive for our goals, we live each day;
And we never think we'll die.
But we are here for only a while,
And we should take this thought to heart.
We should love our friends and our foes;
We all must do our part.
So that when we die,
And soon are gone –
Our love for others,
Will always live on . . .

We've only just begun . . .

We've only just begun
to live;
Our hopes and dreams
remain unspoken.
Every care goes by placidly;
We ponder not our
earthly troubles,
But continue onward
in peaceful haste.

To live

We've tasted parts of life,
and now
We begin to see our future
just around the corner.
Despair, hatred, anger, and envy slowly seep
Into the once meek picture
of life.
We struggle, and desperately continue onward.
The long awaited end seems to close around us.
We soon return to the world
of reality
Only to hear our hearts
boldly suggest;
We've just begin to live,
take heed –
Continue onward with knowledge, patience,
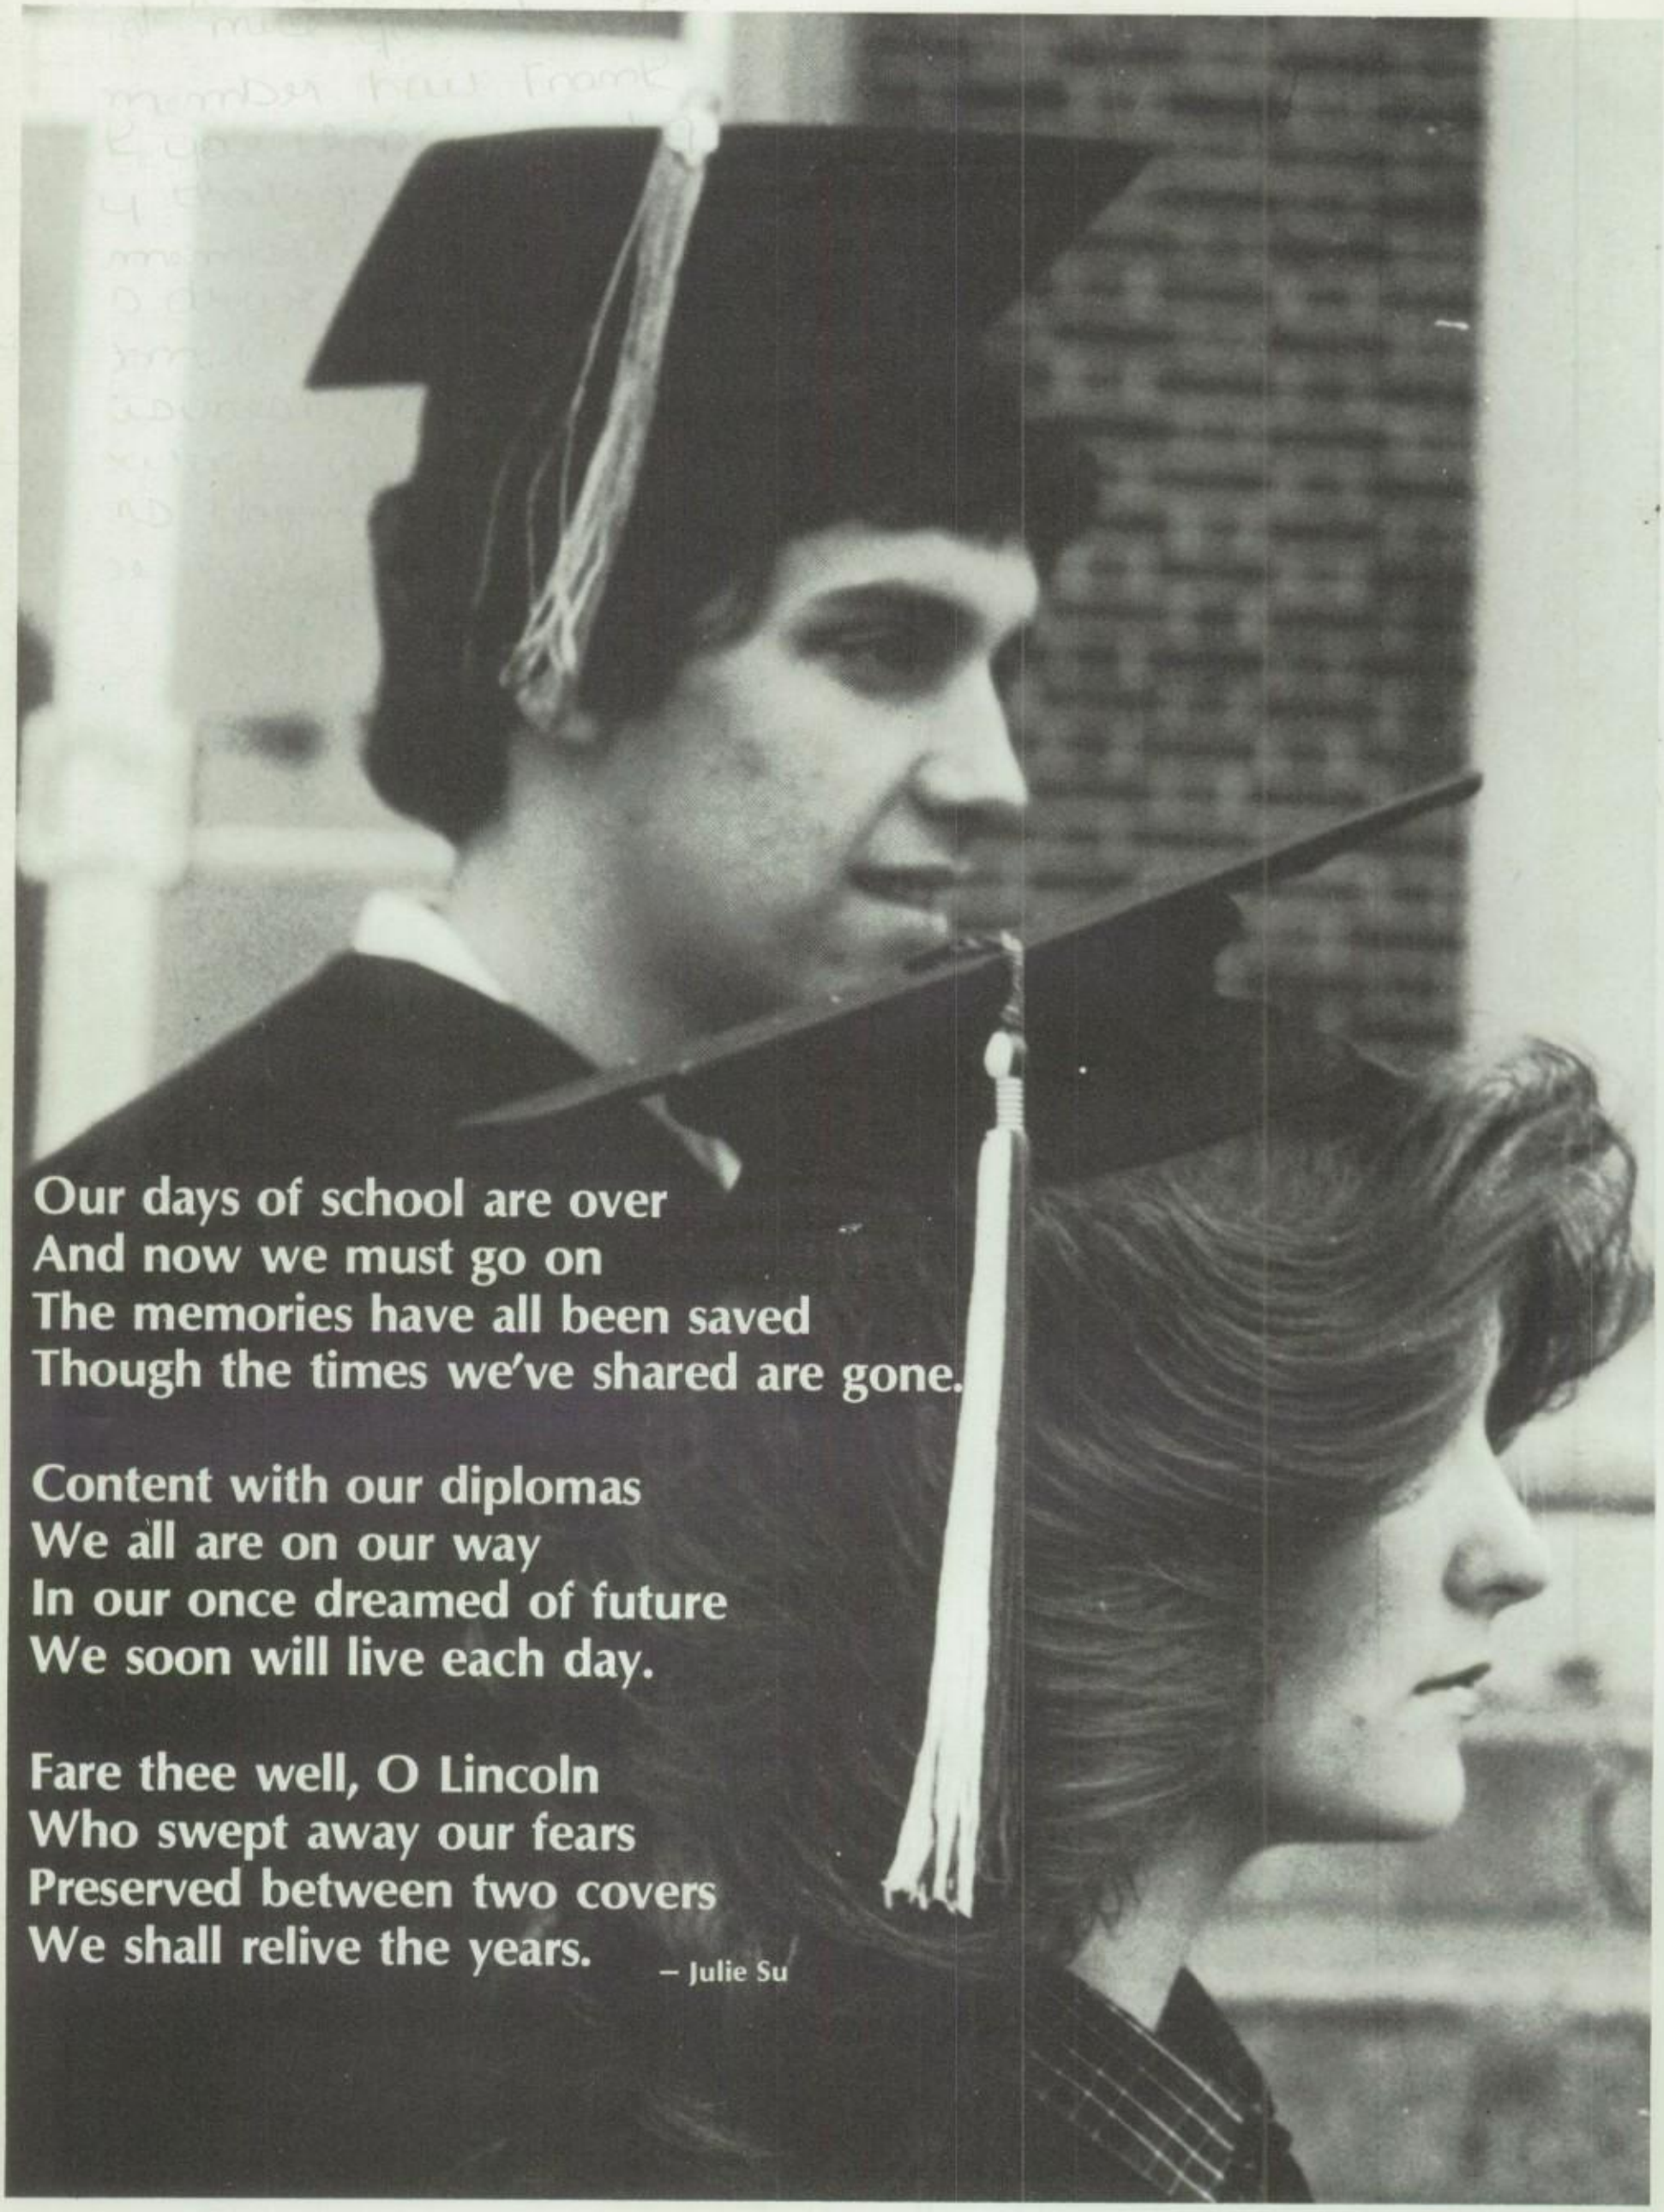
and peace. – M.A. Manzo

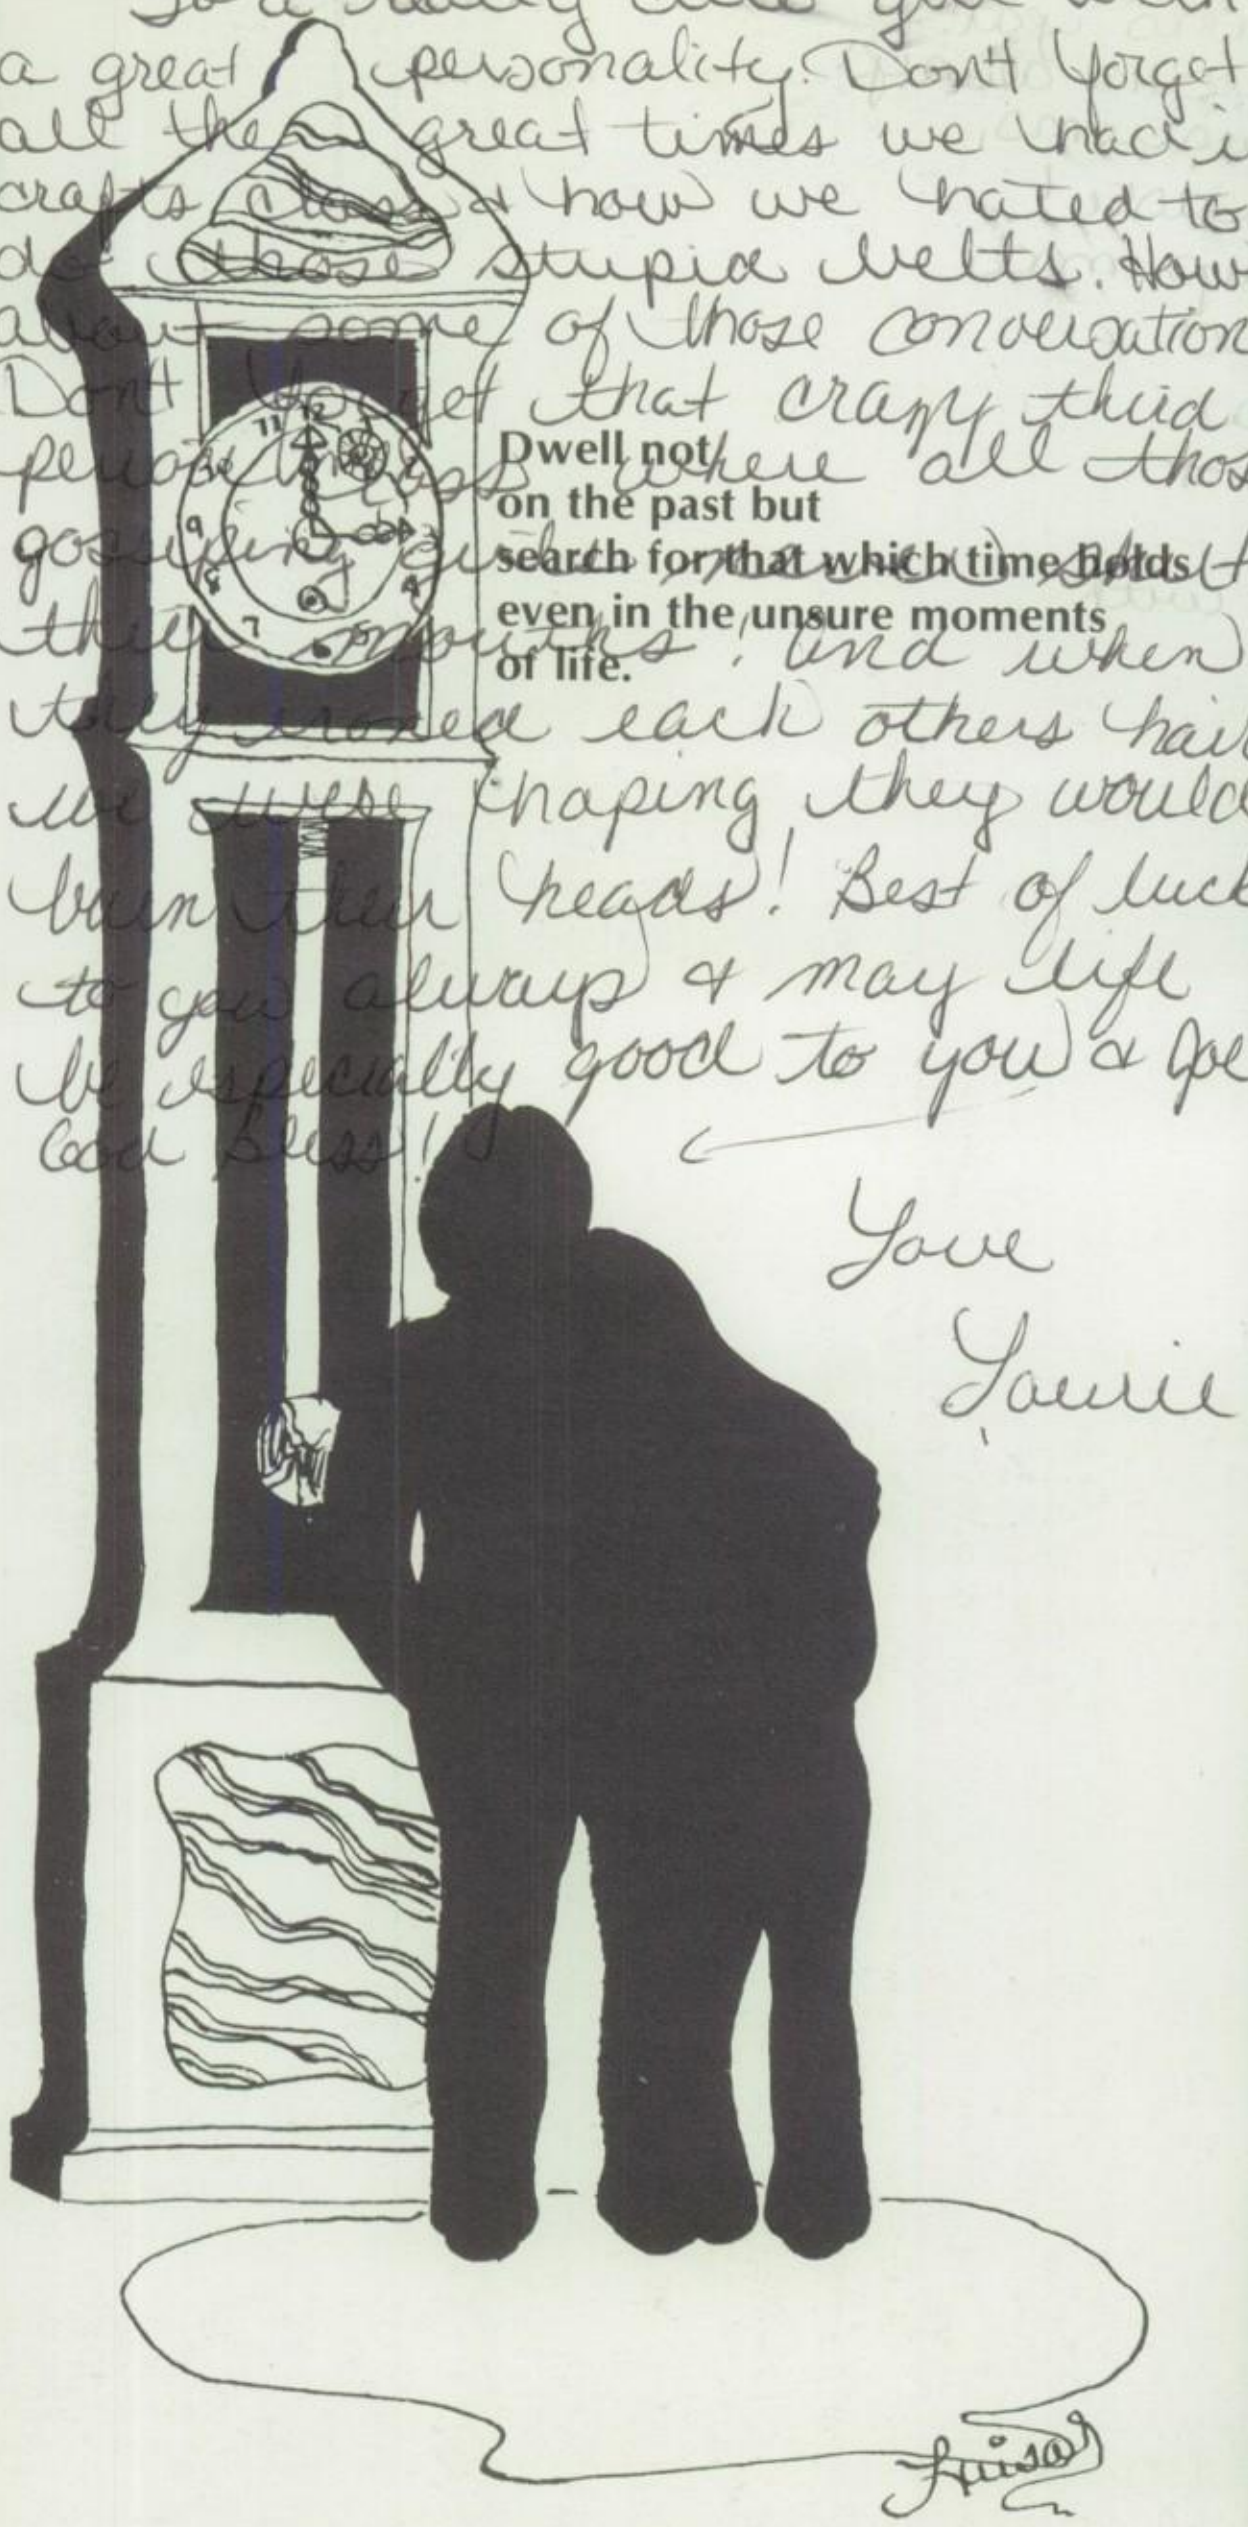


Our days of school are over
And now we must go on
The memories have all been saved
Though the times we've shared are gone.

Content with our diplomas
We all are on our way
In our once dreamed of future
We soon will live each day.

Fare thee well, O Lincoln
Who swept away our fears
Preserved between two covers
We shall relive the years.

– Julie Su



Robin,
To a really cute girl with a great personality. Don't forget all the great times we had in crafts class & how we hated to do those stupid belts. How about some of those conversations! Don't forget that crazy third period class & where all those gossiping sessions went! And when they started cutting each others hair instead of shaping them we would burn them! Best of luck to you always & may life be especially good to you & Joe God Bless!
Love
Laurie
Dwell not on the past but search for that which time holds even in the unsure moments
of life.

The 1980 ELLWOODIAN was printed in an edition of 900 copies, size 9 × 12, with 256 pages. It was printed by the H/J Keller Division of Herff Jones Company at their plant in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania

As Father Time greeted the baby new year
He pulled him aside and whispered quite clearly
"Do the best you can to make this year great,
But remember that you are governed by Fate."
The baby looked up with a questioning smile
And looked at the Father
a very long while.
"This Fate you speak of,
does it rule even you?
If I meet Fate some day well,
what should I do?"
Father Time laughed
"Put your worries to rest,
For 1980 will be the best."

Robin,
To a really good friend I got to know
real good this year. Remember me today in lunch & always Lori & Dana! Always remember all our fights &

Robin,
Yo a really nice
cute, sweet girl that I have known for a couple of years. Remember all the talking times we had in 5th period when they called you secretary? Well enough of remembering those days, now that I remember me, cause I will always remember you good luck in your future years. Maybe I will see you in college. Hope to see you around this summer. Have fun. And good luck with Joe.

Robin,

Yo a really nice, cute and sweet girl.
Remember 5th period with Mrs. Blackitton everybody abused her especially with John Hall's watch. Good luck in the future and in everything you do.

Robin,

What do you say to a girl that you've known for so long? Remember the few dances we had together in tenth grade. Remember 5th period and Mr. Ollenbo. How boring. Good Luck with Joe and don't forget me, because I won't forget you,

Love
Jamie

Robin,

TO A very sharp AND
SWEET Looking girl that I've known for A couple of years. Remember all the fun times we had in U.S. HISTORY - Good Luck
in the future and with Joe De.
See you over the pool

Love,
